ANTI-TARIFF BILL CROWD MAY DEFEAT MEASURE IN SENATE

Complete Version; Arguments Start September 4.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The rewritten version of the proposed house tariff bill will be completed by Republican members of the senate finance committee today and a day will be set early next week when the Democrats will be called in for the formality of a full committee meeting to report the bill to the senate.

With these parliamentary gestures, all obstacles will be cleared away for opening of a long and perhaps spectacular tariff fight in the senate, beginning September 4. Although the committee bill is being completed ahead of schedule, no effort will be made to have the senate take it up before the date agreed upon, Chairman Snook, has assured the Democrats.

A meeting of the senate was scheduled for today but only for the purpose of adjourning until Monday.

The Democrats will get together Friday in a round-table session called by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking minority member of the finance committee. Simmons said he had no intention of preparing a complete substitute for the Republican bill, but would do only schedules to each minority member upon which they could be authorized to draw minority amendments.

Simmons indicated he expected to work more or less closely with the Democratic amendments. Such a coalition if it represented the full strength of each of the factions could control a majority of the senate and overturn the bill upon which the finance committee Republicans are not putting the finishing touches.

Most of the controversial features were settled unexpectedly late yesterday when the committee voted to retain the present status of the tariff commission, the flexible provisions which allow the president to increase and decrease duties by 50 per cent and the section relating to the barring of sedition literature.

The house proposal to establish a commission of seven members without respect to party affiliations was eliminated. The only part of this section of the bill retained was the increase of salaries of commissioners to $12,000 yearly. Their terms were cut down from seven to six years.

COUNCILMAN MUST RETURN $1,060 FEES

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 22.—Councilman William G. Gibbons is charged by State Examiner Will E. Heck, in a report made public today, with being interested in contracts with the city, which is punishable under the city charter and the state law by removal from the council.

The basis of the charges is the allegation that Gibbons represented clients with personal injury claims against the city, receiving $1,060 in fees from six of them. A finding for recovery is made for this amount.

RIVER CAMP FIGHT RESULTS IN DEATH

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 22.—Two men were shot, one fatally, today at an Ohio river camp on the Kentucky side near here.

They were dumped out of an auto in an alley near a Covington, Ky., hospital, where they were found by attendants.

The dead man was identified as Willie Moran, 47, Newport, Ky.

The other man, not expected to recover, was known as "Freddie," hospital officials were told.

An investigation was begun by county officers and federal prohibition agents.

Three men were arrested at the camp later and taken to Covington police headquarters.

They registered as Raymond Schandick, 22, Covington; Albert Thomas, Newport, and Archie Cameron, Covington.

Schandick is said to be the owner of the camp.

The officers reported they found beer at the camp, and two pistols in Thomas' possession.

STORE WRECKED BY BOMB IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—A bomb wrecked the front of an automobile accessories store on south State street today, shaking the near south side and causing damage estimated at $5,000.

The store is owned by Israel Warshawsky, son-in-law of Morris Eller, city collector and boss of the "bloody twentieth ward."

ZEPPELIN DAMAGED IN START ATTEMPT; TAKE-OFF DELAYED

Lloyd Out of Office

Lord George Lloyd has resigned his post as High Commissioner of Egypt, having practically been forced out of office by the Labor Cabinet, it was admitted by Foreign Secretary Henderson. The Tories in Commons waxed indignant with the announcement of the resignation and a debate was immediately arranged.

WEATHER HOLDS-UP COSTE'S EFFORT TO FLY OVER ATLANTIC

Radio Mechanism Is
Faulty; May Start
On Friday

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Unfavorable weather conditions and faulty radio mechanism kept Dieudonne Coste's big red Breguet biplane, in which he intends to fly to New York, in the hangar today as preparations proceeded for a take-off tomorrow morning.

Further tests of the radio were made today and a short test flight was scheduled to determine that everything was ship-shape aboard the huge biplane. Coste and his navigator companion, Maurice Belloc, remained taciturn regarding their plans as they were before their recent surprise attempt to fly over the Atlantic a few weeks ago, which was thwarted by excessive consumption of gasoline.

They turned back when within 400 miles of the Azores and landed safely at their home airport at Villa Coublay, a suburb of Paris.

Numerous officials at Le Bourget field and close friends of Coste and Belloc characterized reports circulated yesterday in the United States of Coste's intention of racing the Graf Zeppelin around the world as "fantastic."

Friends asserted that Coste would only make a far eastern flight in the event that weather conditions over the Atlantic give no promise of improvement. He has his heart set, they assert, on flying to New York. In the event that he did fly to Tokyo, it was asserted, there was a remote possibility that he might overtake the Graf Zeppelin, but there would "certainly be no thought of competition."

SEEK TWO BANDITS WHO OBTAINED $800

CHARLESTON, O., Aug. 22.—City and county authorities joined today in a search for two bandits who held up the Community Savings and Loan Bank here late yesterday and escaped with $800.

The robbers entered the bank at 2:30 p. m. a half hour after it had closed for the day. Two employees, including a girl bookkeeper, were forced to lie on the floor while the bandits scooped up all the cash in sight and fled.

A well-dressed young woman was said to have been driving their car.

HONG KONG, Aug. 22.—A severe typhoon from the China sea struck Hong Kong today inflicting great property damage. No casualties were reported to far.

The terrific gales which followed the typhoon continued to rage through the city. Several steamers were grounded during the storm.

May Leave Thursday After Repairs; Rain On Route

TOKIO, Aug. 22.—Commander Hugo Eckener of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin informed the Japanese navy department today that he hoped to take off on the Tokyo to Los Angeles leg of the flight around the world sometime this afternoon, instead of early tomorrow as planned.

The rear gondola of the huge airship, damaged when it scraped the ground early today during an attempted take-off, was expected to be repaired much earlier than had been anticipated. The technical experts of the Graf Zeppelin staff worked at a feverish pitch and their efforts were being rewarded with early and successful results.

It developed that a cable connecting the gondola with the control room was sprung, necessitating great adjustments throughout the interior of the envelope. The damage was done early today as the huge dirigible was being walked out of its hangar.

SENDAI, Japan, Aug. 22.—It was raining heavily in this vicinity tonight, along the proposed route of the Graf Zeppelin to Los Angeles.

WILLIAMS IS STILL TRYING TO QUALIFY FOR SCHNEIDER CUP

Trials Beset Path Of Navy Entrant In Race Event

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Undaunted by a hair-breadth escape from death, Lieut. Al Williams today prepared for a last desperate attempt to take his 1,100 horsepower Mercury Racing plane into the air and qualify it for the Schneider cup seaplane races in England next month.

Williams was asphyxiated by engine fumes in the cockpit late yesterday just as he was about to lift his racer into the air at more than 100 miles an hour. He came to a few minutes later when a rescue boat hailed him, with no recollection of how he stopped the plane.

On two previous heart-breaking attempts, Williams had trouble with gasoline pressure and on one of these trials his tiny ship was tossed about like a ship by swells from speed boats at the mouth of the Severn River.

Today a ventilator-pipe was being put into the cockpit, and Williams, grim and determined after three weeks of unsuccessful trials and tribulations which included a dispute with the navy, was ready again to risk his neck.

DEERING IS AGAIN ASSOCIATION HEAD

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 22.—Guy V. Deering, of Columbus, Wis., was re-elected president of the Amateur Trapshooting Association at a meeting of the board of directors here. He will also represent the central district on the association executive committee.

John W. Eschelman, Lancaster, Pa., Isaac Andrews, Spartanburg, S. C., and Sam Sherman, Salt Lake City, were elected vice presidents.

Sherman succeeds O. N. Fird, of Belmonte, Calif., and will represent the western district in the committee.

GIRL RELEASED
AKRON, O., Aug. 22.—Mary Enlow, 27, who was held for questioning after Albert Woodward, 32, auto company sales manager, drowned in East Reservoir, has been released. The girl told police Woodward fell from their canoe into the water when he attempted to attack her. Miss Enlow is a close friend of Woodward's wife.

PAIR SENTENCED
BUCYRUS, O., Aug. 22.—H. A. Sharp, 23, and J. D. Steiger, both of Bucyrus, were arraigned at Elkhart, Ind., yesterday and sentenced to one to ten years in the Indiana Reformatory for automobile theft, according to advices to police here. Two women arrested with them were released.

KIDNAPED YOUTH IS RECOVERING WHILE POLICE PROBE CASE

Victim Tortured By Kidnapers Is Returned Home

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 22.—While Raymond Kelch, 22, of Miamiville, near here, was recovering at his home today from the effects of torture inflicted on him by kidnapers who held him prisoner from last Thursday night until 10:30 p. m. Tuesday, Hamilton County deputy sheriffs began a check of his strange story.

Kelch was reunited with his fiancée, Miss Margaret Bateman, Milford, late yesterday at a Shelbyville, Ind., hospital, where he was taken after being found on a lawn in Shelbyville Tuesday night.

The kidnapping and torture of the youth has aroused Miamiville residents. He presented a pitiable sight when he entered his home. His shirt had been stolen and on each upper arm was a series of repulsive scratches as though they had been raked with a knife. The forearms were a mass of horizontal burns.

Across his back was another series of burns, longer than those on his arms and his legs were a mass of cuts. A red triangle on one leg and a huge letter "E" on the other marked the path of the torture weapons. Kelch left Miss Bateman's home Thursday night he said, and stopped to help a woman autoist. He remembered nothing thereafter until he regained consciousness in the Shelbyville hospital.

"DEAD" CONVICT COMES TO LIFE

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 22.—Convict 55847 has come back to life again.

James Webster, 23, of Cuyahoga County, was believed to have perished in the Junction City brickyard fire, Oct. 9, 1925.

Bones thought to be his were found in the ruins, and his relatives attended the general funeral service for the dead.

Now he has been identified by the state bureau of criminal identification as Bill Williams, recently arrested at Louisville, Ky., for violation of the Dyer and Mann acts. He will be brought back to the penitentiary to finish a five to twenty year term for auto theft.

REPORTED MAU MAY GET APPOINTMENT

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 22.—Reports from Washington that U. S. District Attorney Haverd E. Mau is being considered by President Hoover for the post of assistant attorney general succeeding Mabel Walker Willebrandt, were characterized as "just another rumor" by Mau's Cincinnati friends today.

Mau is away vacationing and will not return until Sept. 19. He was reported to have rejected an appointment as assistant attorney general about a year ago.

Washington dispatches said Mau and an Oregonian were receiving prominent mention for the post.

FEAR REPARATIONS MEET MUST ADJOURN WITHOUT RESULTS

Conferences Held In Attempt To Break
Deadlock

THE HAGUE, Aug. 22.—A quick succession of important meetings of delegates to the reparations conference here today and tomorrow, may point the way to an escape from the deadlock which has frozen the attempted liquidation of the World War, but opinion prevails in The Hague that an adjournment without constructive results is most likely.

Representatives of the "big six" powers, France, England, Germany, Belgium, Italy and Japan, which organized The Hague reparations conference, met again today, following their two and a half hour session of yesterday. In an attempt to find a key that will open the deadlock, caused by Britain's demand for larger reparations annuities than those provided in the Young plan.

A distinct relaxation of the tension in the conference was noticed at the one-hour morning meeting of the "big six." This led the delegates to express the opinion that hope of an agreement was not yet abandoned.

The "big six" unanimously decided to allow until Saturday for an agreement on the basis issues before the conference.

Added to the crisis precipitated by Great Britain is the tense situation now which Germany has raised in the demand of adjournment of the conference, she be permitted to pay the Young plan annuities instead of those larger annuities fixed in the Dawes plan after September 1. The British and French yesterday flatly refused to accede to this demand of Germany. An indication of the increased gravity of the situation as a result thereof was seen in the fact that usual jovial Gustave Stresemann, German foreign minister, was particularly grim.

With the failure of Germany's effort to induce the "big six" to toss a straw to the drowning conference, the feeling became heightened in the Hague that the conference's failure would strike a blow not only at German but at European reconstruction and the hope persists that a last minute solution to the problem would be found.

No confirmation was forthcoming today regarding the report that France and Belgium are ready to make a new offer to England to meet the demands of Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, and it was received sceptically in view of the fact that it would entail a similar step by Italy and Italy flatly refused to make any concession to England.

Stresemann talked for twenty-five minutes at the opening of the meeting, issuing a warning that September 1 will see Germany incapable of paying the 2,000,000,000 marks Dawes plan annuity.

Stresemann asserted that since the Paris reparations experts had recognized Germany's incapacity to give the Dawes plan payments, it would be "impossible and immoral" not to allow Germany to pay the Young plan annuities after September 1.

After Stresemann finished Aristide Briand, French premier, spoke for ten minutes, politely echoing Stresemann's wish that the conference not disband without producing results.

COMMITTEE PROBES CHURCH FINANCES

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 22.—Further investigation of the alleged tangled financial affairs of Trinity Methodist Church, will be delayed until the pastor, Dr. Russell H. Bready, can be present, it was said today.

The Rev. Mr. Bready is in Michigan where he is reported to have suffered a nervous breakdown. A committee was appointed yesterday to act as a "grand jury" in probing the church's financial status.

'PUT THE MONEY IN MY POCKET'

Chicago's Laziest Bandit Goes To Sleep During Hold-Up—It's a Hard Life

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—The laziest man in the world was in jail today after he went to sleep holding up thirty-five persons in a hot dog stand.

Between yawns he said his name was Chester Kopelski and then went to sleep again.

The strange holdup occurred last night just south of west Chicago, a suburb.

Thirty-two customers were eating the great American sandwiches which were being served by three waiters when the lazy bandit sauntered in, pistol in hand.

"Stick 'em (yawn) up," he drawled sleepily. "Line up, too (yawn) when you get around to it."

DEATH CELL OPENS FOR DR. SNOOK

FIFTY THOUSAND TROOPS ARE MOVING TO DEFEND MANCHULI

PEIPING, Aug. 22.—Fifty thousand troops were started northward from Mukden today while another column, from the province of Kirin, was dispatched simultaneously via Changchun along the Chinese eastern railway, it was officially announced here.

Both armies apparently were destined for Manchuli, on the western Siberian-Manchurian frontier, where great forces of Chinese and Russian troops were concentrating.

YOUNGSTER KILLED BY POLICEMAN WHEN CAUGHT IN ROBBERY

Brother Captured In Store Pair Was Burglarizing

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 22.—A straight-shooting police officer early today brought to a sudden close the alleged crime career of Vernon Cook, 17, after he and his younger brother, James, were said to have broken into the Kammer Hardware store here.

Vernon was instantly killed by Patrolman Fred Fleisher. Fifteen-year-old James hid in a corner. Fleisher said he was making his early morning rounds when he noticed that someone had broken into the store.

A cardboard strip covering a broken window pane was missing. Peering inside Fleisher noticed two shadowy forms moving stealthily about.

Certain he had been seen, Fleisher rapidly fired two shots at the moving figures. One fell, the other disappeared. Police had to break into the store to find out what had taken place. Vernon was found dead with a bullet hole through his head, and James was discovered badly frightened crouching in a corner.

A police headquarters, it was learned the boys had been living with their grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Knight. Their mother is dead. The father, Harry Cook, is a fisherman who is away from the city a great deal of the time, usually making his headquarters at Erie, Pa.

FIGHT MINE FIRE

MARTINS FERRY, O., Aug. 22.—State mine inspectors were here today directing crews combating a blaze in the Florence mine of the Y. and O. Coal Company. The fire broke out yesterday while thirty men were at work. The miners marched from the shaft, then re-entered it to help fight the fire. Inspectors hoped to curb the blaze by sealing off the chamber where it started.

BLAST IS MYSTERY

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 22.—Police here today were investigating a mysterious fire and gasoline explosion which partially destroyed a house under construction. Police said two men were seen slowly driving by the house before the blaze broke out and reports of labor troubles led investigators to believe the fire was set by incendiaries.

RESUME DERBY WITH BETTER FEELING AS FLIGHT IS DELAYED

Mrs. Thaden Leads; Miss
Earhart In Third
Position

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 22.—The women's derby of the national air races was resumed today, despite cloudy and drizzly weather, which held the feminine fliers over overnight, disrupting their schedule, and presenting them with adverse flying conditions on today's laps to Pecos, Midland, Abilene and Fort Worth.

First of the fliers to lift her plane was Ruth Nichols of New York, who hopped off at 6:10 a. m. The other participants in the derby followed her into the air at five minute intervals.

The women fliers planned to refuel at Pecos at 10:30, at Midland at 2:30, at Abilene at 4:30, and arrive at Fort Worth, tonight's control point, at 6:30. That schedule, the hardest single day's flight since the women left Santa Monica, Calif., for Cleveland, Ohio, last Sunday, would make up the time lost by delay here, forced by sand and rain storms yesterday.

Donning street attire for the first time since they left Santa Monica Sunday, and forgetting the serious business of transcontinental flying for the moment, the fliers were in gay spirits last night as they drank toasts to the success of each and the advancement of women in aviation.

A spirit of comradeship supplanted what, earlier in the day, had threatened to be serious dissension among the fliers over the continuance of the trip through adverse weather.

The argument arose when several of the fliers, headed by Amelia Earhart, first woman to successfully cross the Atlantic in an airplane, insisted on making a scheduled flight to Midland, Tex., designated as yesterday's goal. Ruth Elder, who narrowly escaped death in an attempted trans-Atlantic flight when her plane fell into the ocean, and Mrs. Florence Barnes were the strongest opponents of continuance of the flight. Sand and rain storms were reported east of here. Although weather conditions were slightly better afternoon, rain continued to fall in the east and at El Paso.

It was during a dramatic thirty-minute conference in which the death of Marvel Crosson was mentioned and brought hard lines to the faces of many of the fliers that Maj. A. D. Surles, intelligence officer at Fort Bliss, U. S. Cavalry post, in charge of timing the flight here, ordered the flight postponed after fourteen of the women had voted against continuance. Three fliers did not vote.

Miss Earhart was the first to land at El Paso and the victory placed her in third position. Fastest time for the hop was registered by Mrs. Florence Barnes, San Marino, Calif., in 1:31:53.

Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, now holding second place in elapsed time, was shaken shortly after her arrival.

MAC DONALD COMING HERE IN SIX WEEKS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Prime Minister MacDonald is expected to come to Washington in about six weeks, it was made known at the White House today confirming an exclusive United Press dispatch yesterday.

The White House said it had not been decided whether MacDonald would stay in the executive mansion or at the British embassy.

It was explained that MacDonald had advanced the time of his proposed trip so that he would reach Washington early in October. This is to permit his return to London before parliament reconvenes.

GOOD WILL PLANES ARE FORCED DOWN

CHILLICOTHE, O., Aug. 22.—Eleven of the nineteen planes participating in the state chamber of commerce good will tour, were forced down east of here today by a torrential rainstorm.

None of the planes was damaged. The eight other planes, which with the eleven left Portsmouth this morning, were believed to be turned back to Portsmouth or to have proceeded on to Norton Field at Columbus.

AUTOIST KILLED
CIRCLEVILLE, O., Aug. 22.—Henry Stoner, 42, of Newport, Ky., was killed near here last night when his auto overturned. Members of Stoner's family escaped serious injury. The accident occurred while the family was returning from Jeannette, Pa., after attending funeral services for Mrs. Stoner's mother. The accident occurred when a tire blew out.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 22.—Convict 58847 has come back to life again.

James Webster, 23, of Cuyahoga County, was believed to have perished in the Junction City brickyard fire, Oct. 9, 1928.

Bones thought to be his were found in ruins, and his relatives attended the general funeral service for the dead.

Now he has been identified by the state bureau of criminal identification as Bill Williams, recently arrested at Louisville, Ky., for violation of the Dyer and Mann acts. He will be brought back to the pen to finish a five to twenty year term for auto theft.

REPORTED MAU MAY GET APPOINTMENT

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 22.—Reports from Washington that U. S. District Attorney Havel H. Mau is being considered by President Hoover for the post of assistant attorney general succeeding Mabel Walker Willebrandt, were characterized as "just another rumor" by Mau's Cincinnati friends today.

Mau is away vacationing and will not return until Sept. 10. He was reported to have rejected an appointment as assistant attorney general about a year ago.

Washington dispatches said Mau and an Oregonian were receiving prominent mention for the post.

FEAR REPARATIONS MEET MUST ADJOURN WITHOUT RESULTS

Conferences Held In Attempt To Break
Deadlock

THE HAGUE, Aug. 22.—A quick succession of important meetings of delegates to the reparations conference here today and tomorrow, may point the way to an escape from the deadlock which has frozen the attempted liquidation of the World War, but opinion prevails in The Hague that an adjournment without constructive results is most likely.

Representatives of the "big six" powers, France, England, Germany, Belgium, Italy and Japan, which organized The Hague reparations conference, met again today, following their two and a half hour session of yesterday, in an attempt to find a key that will open the deadlock, caused by Britain's demand for larger reparations annuities than those provided in the Young plan.

A distinct relaxation of the tension in the conference was noted at the one-hour morning meeting of the "big six." This led the delegates to express the opinion that hope of an agreement was not yet abandoned.

The "big six" unanimously decided to allow until Saturday for an agreement on the basis issues before the conference.

Added to the crisis precipitated by Great Britain is the tense situation now which Germany has raised in demanding that, regardless of the continuance or adjournment of the conference, she be permitted to pay the Young plan annuities instead of those larger annuities fixed in the Dawes plan after September 1. The British and French yesterday flatly refused to accede to this demand of Germany. An indication of the increased gravity of the situation as a result thereof was seen in the fact that usual jovial Gustave Stresemann, German foreign minister, was particularly grim.

With the failure of Germany's effort to induce the "big six" to toss a straw to the drowning conference, the feeling became heightened in the Hague that the conference's failure would strike a blow not only at German but at European reconstruction and the hope persists that a last minute solution to the problem would be found.

No confirmation was forthcoming today regarding the report that France and Belgium are ready to make a new offer to England to meet the demands of Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, and it was received sceptically in view of the fact that it would entail a similar step by Italy and Italy flatly refused to make any concession to England.

Stresemann talked for twenty-five minutes at the opening of the meeting, issuing a warning that September 1 will see Germany incapable of paying the 2,000,000,000 marks Dawes plan annuity.

Stresemann asserted that since the Paris reparations experts had recognized Germany's incapacity to swing the Dawes plan payments, it would be "impossible and immoral" not to allow Germany to pay the Young plan annuities after September 1.

After Stresemann finished Aristide Briand, French premier, spoke for ten minutes, politely echoing Stresemann's wish that the conference not disband without producing results.

A cardboard strip covering a broken window pane was missing. Peering inside Fleisher noticed two shadowy forms moving stealthily about.

Certain he had been seen, Fleisher rapidly fired two shots at the moving figures. One fell, the other disappeared. Police had to break into the store to find out what had taken place. Vernon was found dead with a bullet hole through his head, and James was discovered badly frightened crouching in a corner.

A police headquarters, it was learned the boys had been living with their grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Knight. Their mother is dead. The father, Harry Cook, is a fisherman who is away from the city a great deal of the time, usually making his headquarters at Erie, Pa.

COMMITTEE PROBES CHURCH FINANCES

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 22.—Further investigation of the alleged tangled financial affairs of Trinity Methodist Church, will be delayed until the pastor, Dr. Russell H. Brady, can be present, it was said today.

The Rev. Mr. Brady is in Michigan where he is reported to have suffered a nervous breakdown. A committee was appointed yesterday to act as a "grand jury" in probing the church's financial status.

'PUT THE MONEY IN MY POCKET'

Chicago's Laziest Bandit Goes To Sleep During Hold-Up—It's a Hard Life

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—The laziest man in the world was in jail today after he went to sleep holding up thirty-five persons in a hot dog stand.

Between yawns he said his name was Chester Kopinski and then went to sleep again.

The strange holdup occurred last night just south of west Chicago, a suburb.

Thirty-two customers were eating the great American sandwiches which were being served by three waiters when the lazy bandit sauntered in, pistol in hand.

"Stick 'em (yawn) up," he drawled sleepily. "Line up, too, (yawn) when you get around to it."

DEATH CELL OPENS FOR DR. SNOOK

FIFTY THOUSAND TROOPS ARE MOVING TO DEFEND MANCHULI

PEIPING, Aug. 22.—Fifty thousand troops were started northward from Mukden today while an other column, from the province of Kirin, was dispatched simultaneously via Changchun along the Chinese eastern railway, it was officially announced here.

Both armies, apparently were destined for Manchuli, on the western Siberian-Manchurian frontier, where great forces of Chinese and Russian troops were concentrating.

Reports from the Manchuli sector said that new Soviet detachments, equipped with tanks and armored cars, had invaded Chinese soil and attacked with full force.

Manchuli dispatches said the Chinese troops resisted with great strength. Artillery was used by both sides and though the full extent of the casualties was unknown it was said to be considerable. The Soviet attack took place along the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The arrest of Soviet agents in connection with the recent dynamiting of west bound trains in the Chinese Eastern Railway continued today, according to advices from Dairen, where it was confirmed. The reports said that several persons aboard the wrecked train were killed and several others were injured.

Certain officials of the Mukden government charged that Japan has agreed to support the Soviets in the current dispute between Russia and China over the Chinese Eastern Railway. They charged that Japan agreed to side with Russia in return for valuable fishing rights in Russian waters.

TRAFFIC CRASHES CLAIM TWO LIVES

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 22.—Tossed into the path of a rapidly moving street car after his car had side-swiped another automobile, Joseph Mack, 36, was killed early today.

His death made the 156th, traffic fatality for the year.

Charles Beahm, 25, died today from injuries received last night when his car collided with another.

SENATE ADJOURNS UNTIL NEXT MONDAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The senate met for one minute today and adjourned to next Monday, in accordance with the terms of a gentleman's agreement between leaders not to do any business until September 4. Only eleven senators were in their seats for the brief session. Vice President Curtis immediately recognized Republican Leader Watson, who moved the adjournment.

FIGHT MINE FIRE

MARTINS FERRY, O., Aug. 22.—State mine inspectors were here today directing crews combating a blaze in the Florence mine of the Y. and O. Coal Company. The fire broke out yesterday while thirty men were at work. The miners marched from the shaft, then re-entered it to help fight the fire. Inspectors hoped to curb the blaze by sealing off the chamber where it started.

BLAST IS MYSTERY

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 22.—Police here today were investigating a mysterious fire and gasoline explosion which partially destroyed a house under construction. Police said two men were seen slowly driving by the house before the blaze broke out and reports of labor troubles led investigators to believe the fire was set by incendiaries.

AUTOIST KILLED

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Aug. 22.—Henry Stoner, 42, of Newport, Ky., was killed near here last night when his auto overturned. Members of Stoner's family escaped serious injury. The accident occurred while the family was returning from a party at Newport, after turning from Jeanette, Pa., after attending funeral services for Mrs. Stoner's mother. The accident occurred when a tire blew out.

RESUME DERBY WITH BETTER FEELING AS FLIGHT IS DELAYED

Mrs. Thaden Leads; Miss
Earhart In Third
Position

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 22.—The women's derby of the national air races was resumed today, despite cloudy and drizzly weather, which held the feminine fliers over overnight, disrupting their schedule, and presenting them with adverse flying conditions on today's laps to Pecos, Midland, Abilene and Fort Worth.

First of the fliers to lift her plane was Ruth Nichols of New York, who hopped off at 6:10 a. m. The other participants in the derby followed her into the air at five minute intervals.

The women fliers planned to refuel at Pecos at 10:30, at Midland at 2:30, at Abilene at 4:30, and arrive at Fort Worth, tonight's control point, at 6:30. That schedule, the hardest single day's flight since the women left Santa Monica, Calif., for Cleveland, Ohio, last Sunday, would make up the time lost by delay here, forced by sand and rain storms yesterday.

Donning street attire for the first time since they left Santa Monica Sunday, and forgetting the serious business of transcontinental flying for the moment, the fliers were in gay spirits last night as they drank toasts to the success of each and the advancement of women in aviation.

A spirit of comradeship supplanted what, earlier in the day, had threatened to be serious dissension among the fliers over the continuance of the trip through adverse weather.

The argument arose when several of the fliers, headed by Amelia Earhart, first woman to successfully cross the Atlantic in an airplane, insisted on making the scheduled flight to Midland, Tex., designated as yesterday's goal. Ruth Elder, who narrowly escaped death in an attempted trans-Atlantic flight when her plane fell into the ocean, and Mrs. Florence Barnes, were the strongest opponents of continuance of the flight. Sand and rain storms were reported east of here. Although weather conditions were slightly better after rain continued to fall in the east and at El Paso.

It was during a dramatic thirty-minute conference in which the death of Marvel Crosson was mentioned and brought hard lines to the faces of many of the fliers that the women reached a decision. Maj. A. D. Surles, intelligence officer at Fort Bliss, U. S. Cavalry post, in charge of timing the fliers here, ordered the flight postponed after fourteen of the women had voted against continuance. Three fliers did not vote.

Miss Earhart was the first to land at El Paso and the victory placed her in third position. Fastest time for the hop was registered by Mrs. Florence Barnes, San Marino, Calif., in 1:31:53.

Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, now holding second place in elapsed time, was shaken shortly after her arrival.

MAC DONALD COMING HERE IN SIX WEEKS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Prime Minister MacDonald is expected to come to Washington in about six weeks, it was made known at the White House today confirming an exclusive United Press dispatch yesterday.

The White House said it had not been decided whether MacDonald would stay in the executive mansion or at the British embassy.

It was explained that MacDonald had advanced the time of his proposed trip so that he would reach Washington early in October. This is to permit his return to London before parliament reconvenes.

GOOD WILL PLANES ARE FORCED DOWN

CHILLICOTHE, O., Aug. 22.—Eleven of the nineteen planes participating in the state chamber of commerce good will tour, were forced down east of here today by a torrential rainstorm.

None of the planes was damaged.

The eight other planes, which with the eleven left Portsmouth this morning, were believed to have turned back to Portsmouth or to have proceeded on to Norton Field at Columbus.

WILMINGTON MOVIE THEATER LEASED TO SPRINGFIELD MAN

The Murphy Theater, Wilmington, has been leased to Phil Chakares, Springfield theater operator, for a period of twenty years, the Wilmington News-Journal has learned.

The new alliance will make the Wilmington house a part of the Fox Movie Corporation, since Chakares heads three chains that are all subsidiaries of the Fox interests, it is said.

The theater is owned by Charles Webb Murphy, Chicago, wealthy sportsman and former Wilmington resident, and his brother Frank Murphy, manager of the theater since its erection, will be retained in that connection under the new management, it is said.

KARHL BULL NAMED ON FAIR COMMITTEE

Karhl Bull, publisher of the Cedarville Herald, is a member of the committee named to have charge of activities on "Press Day" at the state fair, August 30. The committee was announced Wednesday by Perry L. Green, director of agriculture.

Frank C. MacCracken, Bellefontaine Daily Examiner, is chairman of the Press Day committee of newspapermen. W. H. Phillips, Oberlin News, will respond to the welcoming address at the luncheon at the clubhouse on the fair grounds, when the newspapermen will be guests of the state fair committee. Hugh Fullerton, Columbus Dispatch, will talk on "Newspapers and Fairs."

FOUND GUILTY OF DYNAMITE CHARGE

John Donnell, 55, Warren County contractor and farmer, was found guilty of having dynamited a county owned concrete mixer near Lebanon the night of June 23, by a common pleas jury at Lebanon Wednesday. He was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary.

Ex-Kaiser is Said to Be Wealthiest German Today

Still Owns 250,000 Acres of Good Land in Germany

EX-KAISER WILHELM lost very little by his exile in a financial way, for it is reckoned that he is today not only the wealthiest of deposed or exiled monarchs, but is perhaps the richest German, largely because of the terms exacted by him from the State in settling his claims against it.

In 1926 the head of the house of Hohenzollern received a State indemnity of $3,750,000 for certain property claims surrendered in Prussia. At the same time there passed into the irrevocable possession of the family six castles, twenty villas and 250,000 acres of land.

His maintenance of a sort of mock royal court at Doorn takes toll of between $50,000 and $100,000 of his money annually, it is estimated, but the Dutch, on the other hand, complain that he does not pay an adequate income tax.

Wilhelm's entourage is a very substantial one and includes a number of satellites who loyally subscribe to the idea that what has happened has not changed the estate of their royal master; that he is emperor in fact as he once was in name. For their loyalty they are paid handsome salaries, live on the fat of the land and hope with the deposed monarch for his eventual restoration.

Likewise, the Princess Hermine, his wife, whom he married at Doorn in 1922, though not recognized by the Prussian aristocracy as empress, certainly is regarded as such in her husband's Dutch place of exile.

The deposed monarch has had to contend with many domestic difficulties during his stay at Doorn. One culminated in the marriage of a sister to a Russian who had formerly been a dishwasher and more recently a poet and a cabaret dancer. Three of his six sons have been involved in divorces. Prince Joachim, the youngest, was deserted by his wife, Princess Marie von Anhalt, and committed suicide.

His own marriage so soon after the death of the late Empress occasioned serious criticism even among the stoutest advocates of the claims of the House of Hohenzollern.

STANDARD OIL (Ohio) is now putting more Ethyl brand of anti-knock compound into Sohio Ethyl Gasoline.

To owners of the high-compression cars of today, this change means added assurance of maximum motor efficiency.

To other drivers it means a definite increase in the advantages afforded by Sohio Ethyl when used in any make or model of car.

This increase in the Ethyl content of Sohio Ethyl gasoline produces a fuel that exceeds official anti-knock standards. It materially strengthens the ability of Sohio Ethyl to do these things:

1. Stop carbon knocks
2. Give smooth, even power
3. Make frequent gear shifting unnecessary
4. Prevent needless wear and tear—help keep motors cool

The sweeping popularity won by Sohio Ethyl Gasoline in its first year attests its unique character. Sohio Ethyl is a remarkable motor fuel—remarkable for its purity, uniformity and volatility. And now we are putting even more Ethyl into Sohio Ethyl—making it a still better motor fuel—but with no increase in price.

Here is a concrete instance of this Ohio Corporation's avowed policy—to provide Ohio motorists the finest motor fuel and lubricants that modern science can produce.

The theater is owned by Charles Webb Murphy, Chicago, wealthy sportsman and former Wilmington resident, and his brother Frank Murphy, manager of the theater since its erection, will be retained in that connection under the new management, it is said.

C. W. Murphy entered into the agreement with Chakeres after visiting theaters operated by Chakeres in Springfield. It is understood the Wilmington house will be operated in a chain with the State and Regent Theaters in Springfield. The new operators will spend $75,000 remodeling the interior of the building and installing new equipment, including 1,000 new upholstered seats. Sound pictures will be exhibited starting about October 15, with "On With The Show" as the inaugural picture. Uninformed ushers will be used, aisles will be carpeted and a new ticket booth will be erected in the lobby.

Now SOHIO ETHYL sets new standards in anti-knock quality

Are you getting all your motor's power?

Any automobile motor having a compression ratio of 5 or more to 1 requires Ethyl Gasoline to develop the power and efficiency it was designed to furnish.

Get a copy of this folder at any Standard Oil (Ohio) service station or Sohio dealer's. It tells at a glance whether your car requires Sohio Ethyl.

But remember that stopping the knock—and Ethyl does!—will make any motor smoother, more powerful, more efficient.

STANDARD OIL (Ohio) is now putting more Ethyl brand of anti-knock compound into Sohio Ethyl Gasoline.

To owners of the high-compression cars of today, this change means added assurance of maximum motor efficiency.

To other drivers it means a definite increase in the advantages afforded by Sohio Ethyl when used in any make or model of car.

This increase in the Ethyl content of Sohio Ethyl gasoline produces a fuel that exceeds official anti-knock standards. It materially strengthens the ability of Sohio Ethyl to do these things:

1. Stop carbon knocks
2. Give smooth, even power
3. Make frequent gear shifting unnecessary
4. Prevent needless wear and tear—help keep motors cool

The sweeping popularity won by Sohio Ethyl Gasoline in its first year attests its unique character. Sohio Ethyl is a remarkable motor fuel—remarkable for its purity, uniformity and volatility. And now we are putting even more Ethyl into Sohio Ethyl—making it a still better motor fuel—but with no increase in price.

Here is a concrete instance of this Ohio Corporation's avowed policy—to provide Ohio motorists the finest motor fuel and lubricants that modern science can produce.

BLAME AUTOISTS IN MAJORITY OF GRADE CROSSING CRASHES

That many grade crossing accidents are due to negligence on the part of autoists, is the claim of the Pennsylvania Railroad in information revealed here through the joint public relations committee of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio Railroads, of which Dr. W. A. Galloway, Xenia, is chairman.

In connection with its safety campaign, the Pennsylvania Railroad recently conducted a two-day survey of auto traffic over a representative grade crossing. The check showed that 883 or more than 20 per cent of the 4,371 drivers passing over the crossing failed to take necessary precautions in looking for approaching trains, in some cases the drivers "going over the crossing immediately ahead of approaching trains."

COUNT THE COST—And a certain scribe came, and said unto him, Master I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest. And Jesus said unto him, The air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head.—Matthew 8:19, 20.

EITHER LINCOLNS OR NAPOLEONS

Those who want to get on in this world must choose between the method adopted by Abraham Lincoln and that taken by Napoleon Bonaparte, declares W. Roy Barnhill, publisher of "People's Home Journal" in the current issue of that magazine.

"The methods of getting on in the world adopted by different people," Mr. Barnhill writes, "may depend in the beginning somewhat upon circumstances or environment. But inspiration or ambition guides after the start is made."

"The ambitious successes may leave scars, the inspired successes are sure to make their mark. Be industrious to achieve your inspired ambition, but watch your step when it comes to purely selfish ambitions. Napoleon was selfishly ambitious. Lincoln was inspired by lofty purpose. An entire universe divides these opposites."

"Of the two, inspiration is the safer guide. It is a small voice within that leads to great service to many people. Scientists, musicians, artists, inventors, statesmen are inspired to deeds of service. They hear the small voice and heed it. The voice is not audible to one who places self-indulgence above sacrifice, self-interest above altruism, time-serving above high-minded devotion to duty. Or, if the voice be audible, it will receive but scant attention."

"Fix your eyes upon the goal of world empire," ambition counseled Napoleon. "Let your soldiers' campfires burn like beacon lights upon your victorious way. Shut your ears to the cries of women and children widowed and orphaned by your command. At the very sound of your name, small nations will tremble, proud kingdoms will look to their armaments. Conqueror, will blaze in letters of fire by night, in the smoke of sacked and burning villages by day, Napoleon—Conqueror."

"Napoleon's conquests have left no mark upon the page of history that can compare with the brilliant conquests of science over darkness, disease and death," concludes the publisher of "People's Home Journal." "The true scientist has heard and heeded the small voice within. He has glorified his Creator by discovering His purposes for man. Each conquering benefactor—whether scientist, artist, inventor or statesman—has served his generation with heart, soul and mind, and the nations arise up and call him blessed."

The Worcester Telegram thinks that man takes the prize in craziness because he wears heavy, binding and uncomfortable clothes in summer. But on the other hand he does not go half naked all winter.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK—The charm of the burlesque theatre always has been its casual and unpretentious slant. There is nothing subtle about burlesque. It's as obvious as a comic strip—frank as a stenographer's lip rouge. Thus, the other day, at the Columbia Stock, the chorus girls were introduced by one on the stage to the audience before the shindig started.

The Out-of-Town-Man-About-Town, it seems, persists in the old pastime of sending girls back stage to his favorite member of the ensemble. Not knowing her name, and depending solely upon description, much confusion ensues. And why court confusion when it can be dissipated by so simple expedient as an introduction?

After a while it will probably reach the point where the girls will wear numbers on their backs, like football players.

After attending a couple of the current Broadway reviews you realize that nothing is too cheap, too low or too preposterous for a tryout on The Lane.

IRV. COBB'S FOND WISH

The bunch at the Newspaper Club were swapping yarns the other night and Charley McCabe, the Brooklyn Eagle's great cartoonist, recalled the time Charley Chapin, city editor of the Evening World, now serving a life sentence in Sing Sing for the murder of his wife, was sent over for several days to "discipline" the staff of the Morning World. Charley was indignantly proud of the title the staff had bestowed upon him, of "Simon Legree."

Ir. Cobb snarled into the M-fine one morning and noting that Chapin was absent made inquiry as to his whereabouts. He was told "The Boss had gone home ill."

WILL THERE BE A FUNERAL? Charley Bayre, metropolitan reporter aoe, pulled a somewhat similar line on the auditor of the World. Charles, at the time, was lending lustre to the World staff and in connection with the rest of the bunch entertained a profound contempt for the penny-paring tactics that made Browns, the auditor, as great in his line as Bayer is in his.

Browns was absent one day when Bayer sought him, and being informed that the watchdog of the World treasury was quite ill, casually inquired:

"Is there any danger of his recovery?"

TRAGEDY IN THE CHORUS There's a lot in knowing when to let go. Years ago, when musical shows were the vogue, the chorus occupied a niche all her own. The requirements were purely physical. "Beautiful but dumb" described it.

Then came a change. The movies forced the girls of the show business to revamp their values and, closely but surely the lady of the chorus found herself being shunted out toward the fringe of things. A lot of them drifted into other fields; but a lot of 'em clung on like seaweed to a clam. Today, three thousand at the beginning of the season are elbowing one another for the three hundred jobs in sight. And how the successful 250 are going to go on eating and keep the cosmetic kit replenished is a problem that would tax the economic ingenuity of an Alexander Hamilton.

TURNING THE TIDE A call went out the other day for 40 chorines and several hundred of them, after squandering money at the "beauticians" in order to put an impeccable front, paraded across the stage a couple of times, squandered an entire day and found themselves at even tide no better off than before.

When the graft shows signs of curling up—quit. Look at John Tietjen and The Missus—20 years in vaudeville as "Jean and Jacques." Three years ago, seeing the trend vaudeville was taking, they turned their backs on the stage, bought an abandoned farm on the shores of Lake Coboscoconne, Me., and after mastering the pronunciation and the spelling of the lake settled down to the serious business of chicken raising.

Last year they shipped 20,000 chickens for the penny-paring

THE WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

SOME RESPONSIBILITY

A thoughtful correspondent writes in and says: "Here is something to think about. The United States with only six per cent of the world's population and seven per cent of the world's land produces 56 per cent of the world's paper; 20 per cent of its gold; 25 per cent of its wheat; 40 of iron and steel; 40 of lead and 40 of silver; 50 per cent of zinc and 52 of coal; 60 per cent of cotton; 66 of copper and 60 of cotton; 66 per cent of all the oil; 75 per cent of the corn and 85 out of every 100 automobiles."

Well, that is not only something to think about but it is a heavy responsibility for the United States to carry. What are we, with all this wealth, doing for the world? What is our greatest possible contribution?

KEEPING UP AND AHEAD

The Boston Chamber of Commerce has created a bureau devoted exclusively to aviation. Other cities will do the same. It is the business of a chamber of commerce to see that its city keeps up—and keeps ahead.

PATIENCE

Patience often wins what the most impulsive and forceful attack can not win. Too often those who go to a job with unneutral speed and vigor at the beginning soon fade into failure.

IN POLITICS

The wise and thoughtful man will go into politics or public life with his eyes open and after thoughtful deliberation. He will face the fact, if he knows what it is all about, that he is going to be shot at by all sorts of both just and unjust critics. He is going to be deserted by at least 75 per cent of those acquaintances whom he fondly thought were friends. He is going to be called dishonest, unjust, weak, a liar, and a demagogue. He is going to do something with good intentions to please somebody and find that he has upset somebody else.

Despite all this, no career is greater than a public career. Only every man who goes in ought to know that the price is high and make up his mind beforehand that he is willing to pay it.

HUMOR

Women, for the most part having little sense of humor, find much more in life to be anxious about, much more to make them unhappy than men do. Women, lacking a sense of humor, have other gifts which men do not have. They have intuition, frequently mistaken, but nevertheless better than no intuition at all.

HOW GOVERNMENT COMBATS FRUIT FLY DESTRUCTION

By DR. C. L. MARLATT
Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology

Charles Lester Marlatt was born at Atchison, Kans., Sept. 26, 1865. He is a graduate of Kansas Agricultural college where he was later awarded the degree of doctor of science. For two years he was an assistant professor at Kansas Agricultural college. He became affiliated with the bureau of entomology, department of agriculture, in 1889 and was named its chief in 1927. He is a member of numerous scientific societies and organizations, and is the author of many papers and bulletins on economic entomology.

The forces of the federal government and the state of Florida have been mobilized to combat the Mediterranean fruit fly, which has become prevalent in sections of Florida.

Between 5,000 and 6,000 men have been employed in the work of eradicating the disease, and the cleanup of cultivated fruit and vegetables is now nearly 100 per cent over the known infested areas. The cleanup further involves not only planted orchards and vegetable areas, but also the penetration of wild lands and swamps to destroy the wild host fruits of all types.

The department of agriculture in its bureau of entomology has developed during the last 50 years a force of entomologists doing work throughout the United States independently or in cooperation with state institutions and agencies. The work of this bureau is distributed in some 10 divisions, each of which deserves a story of its own. These divisions are charged with the study of: Deciduous fruit insects; cereal and forage insects; truck crop insects; cotton insects; insects affecting tropical and subtropical and ornamental plants; insects affecting forest and shade trees; insects affecting stored products; insects affecting man and animals; bee culture investigations; and museum work, namely, technical or scientific study of insects from the standpoint of determination and classification.

This work is being conducted at some 100 different field stations located in 37 states. There are additional stations in Alaska, Hawaii, Canal Zone, and in some seven foreign countries. All but one of these foreign stations are concerned with the collection of parasite and beneficial insects to be imported into the United States to aid in the insect war.

Perhaps the most important phase of applied entomology in recent years has been the effort of various countries of the world to prevent the entry from other regions of new pest hazards—insects and plant disease. The United States was lagged in this field in spite of the general realization of the fact that our more important crops are of foreign origin. A stream of each plant and animal hazard had been coming into North America beginning with Colonial settlement. The latch string was out and these undesirable immigrants took full advantage of the situation. We have thus received many, but fortunately not all, of the numerous crop, household, and animal enemies which have developed in older

ANOTHER BIG STEP FORWARD

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

With a little study and ordinary intelligence, any woman can learn to analyze her own skin. There are four general types of skin—the dry, the oily, the normal and the combination skin.

The dry skin is usually thin and sensitive. When it is cared for correctly, it is the most beautiful of all skins—so fine pored and transparent. Neglected, it becomes scaly and chapped and cracks into lines and wrinkles. Thorough cleanliness is, of course, the first essential in the skin care, but the dry skin cannot stand frequent washing. To wash the dry skin frequently with soap and water, is to wash away what little natural oil it has and make the skin drier than ever. If yours is a dry skin, select a pure cleansing cream—one which will penetrate the depths of the pores and bring out all dust and impurities, leaving the skin free to breathe—and a cream which will, at the same time, lubricate the skin, keeping it soft and supple.

Twice a week with warm water and a washing preparation compounded especially for the dry skin, for the problem here is to cut the excess oil and regulate the oil glands so that they may function normally—supplying just enough oil to nourish and lubricate the skin. The oily skin is usually sluggish and frequently inclined to large pores and blackheads. It needs stimulation! Each cell and pore must be made to work—must be whipped into activity. It will need too, a good astringent to close the pores and refine the texture.

The combination skin is a temperamental skin—and at first its care seems complicated. But it really is a very simple matter. Each part should be considered separately and treated accordingly. Around the eyes, the cheeks and forehead where the skin is dry, treat it exactly as you would a dry skin—cleansing with cream and nourishing with rich skin-foods. Where oil abounds on the chin and nose, wash frequently, stimulate daily and use your astringent regularly.

The woman with a perfectly normal skin is indeed fortunate—and with correct daily care its beauty can be enhanced and preserved throughout the years. Alternate washing with cold cream cleansings. A good rule is to wash the face in the morning, using warm water and a special washing preparation. Cleanse with cream at night. Stimulate daily to keep the blood flowing briskly and each tiny cell working actively.

These, then, are the four general types of skin—the dry, the oily, the combination and the normal. Once you have determined which type your skin is, it is a simple matter to select the correct preparations.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—A representative seat in congress means just as much to him as a senator's means to a senator, but it means less to other folk—except in the case of a few exceptional representatives, like Speaker Longworth.

A member of the upper house draws no more pay than a member of the lower one, but he is a bigger man, nevertheless—generally. Consequently, the air already is full of talk concerning the chances of the senators who must come up for re-election next year. All the representatives must, but nobody mentions their prospects.

Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire has general charge of his Republican fellow senators' campaigns. Of course each will fight for himself, too, but the G. O. P. is anxious to have a bigger senate majority in the next congress than it has in this one.

As chairman of the Republican senate committee Moses succeeds Senator Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island, who has a re-election conflict of his own on his hands and will be too busy to worry over the others. Rhode Island is a doubtful state and former Senator Peter G. Gerry, who lost out as a Democrat last year, will be doing his best to stage a come-back at Metcalf's expense.

Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland probably will be the Democrats' chairman. He was last time.

On the Republican side of the fence Senators William F. Borah of Idaho, Arthur Capper of Kansas, James Couzens of Michigan, Henry W. Keane of New Hampshire, William H. McMaster of South Dakota, Charles L. McNary of Oregon and Francis E. Warren of Wyoming if he lives, for he is 85 years old and has served 34 years continuously are considered practically certain of re-election. A Democrat does occasionally win in Michigan, but only once in a coin's age.

Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois may not be re-nominated. Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick wants his toga.

Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey is out of the race, having been appointed ambassador to France. Representative Franklin W. Fort, one of President Hoover's "boy scouts," would like to succeed him, but will have to beat ex-Senator Edward I. Edwards who, defeated in 1928, is sure to try again in 1930.

Still in the Republican column, Senator Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts is expected to retire, being very old—though not so old as Senator Warren. Besides, Massachusetts may choose a Democrat. It has one now, in Senator David I. Walsh, and went for Al Smith last November.

Senator Guy D. Goff will have competition in West Virginia from ex-Senator M. M. Neely, who lost out as a Democrat in the 1928 landslide.

Senator Arthur P. Gould of Maine will be re-elected if nominated, but there are hints that he will retire—maybe to escape defeat at the primaries, for he recently made some slurring remarks concerning prohibition, a risky policy for a Pine Tree state politician.

Senator Daniel O. Hastings cannot be considered safe in Delaware, where ex-Senator Thomas F. Bayard is sure to be the Democrats' candidate, until the votes are counted.

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska wanted to retire six years ago, but says nothing about it now. If he runs, he will have the Anti-Saloon league against him, because although a dry, he supported Al Smith. Nevertheless, it will be a miracle if he fails to carry Nebraska—and much good may it do the Republicans, for he seldom votes with them.

Colorado has been known to go Democratic, but not often enough to scare Senator Lawrence C. Phipps seriously.

Oklahoma and Kentucky are not safely enough Republican to justify odds in favor of the re-election of Senators W. B. Pine and Frederic M. Sackett, respectively.

Senator Thomas D. Schall will have to hustle for renomination in Minnesota.

Among the Democrats everyone concedes the renomination and re-election of Senators Coleman L. Blease of South Carolina, William J. Harris of Georgia, Joseph E. Ransdell of Louisiana, Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Morris Sheppard of Texas and Lawrence D. Tyson of Tennessee.

New Mexico, Senator Sam G. Branton's state, is variable.

Senator Carter Glass, as the whole country knows, has a fight on with Bishop James Cannon, Jr. in Virginia.

Senator Pat Harrison, J. Thomas Heflin and Fumtfield M. Simmons in reality no doubt have a cinch apiece in their respective states of Mississippi, Alabama, and North Carolina, but there are some whispers of Democratic disaffection against all three of them. Once nominated, of course, they are sure of re-election.

Considering how dry he is, the question always is raised how long Senator Thomas J. Walsh can continue to carry the wet state of Montana, but it generally is taken for granted that he will do it this time as usual.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers.
—Jewish Proverb.

CONSTIPATION IN BABIES

"My baby boy, seven months old, weighs 17 pounds and is healthy in every way but one—constipation. No matter what I give him to eat, he doesn't have a natural passage without the aid of a physic. Besides his nursing, he gets orange juice, farina or strained oatmeal, a teaspoon of cod liver oil, along with a nursing in the morning. For lunch, some kind of vegetable, spinach, baked potato or mashed carrot, then five ounces of milk and one of water. Later, a few ounces of prune juice and some boiled water, and sometimes another bottle if I haven't enough milk myself. I give him milk of magnesia."
MRS. C.

Your baby won't have natural bowel movement until you stop giving him the milk of magnesia. Mrs. C. I would say to stop the physic entirely and give him a little enema for two or three days until he has a normal movement. Have him sit on his potty chair at a regular time, twice a day. Perhaps, instead of giving him an enema, you could use a small glycerine suppository.

Always, after stopping the use of physics, it takes three or four days for the bowels to begin to function normally.

Perhaps you can increase his diet somewhat, add a larger amount of the pureed vegetables and fruits. I would also get a package of Vitavose (a sugar that is made of the germs of wheat), for it is very high in the vitamin B, which has much to do with the integrity of the intestinal tract. You should give him one bottle feeding extra each day, and in his extra bottle use the vitavose for sugar. See that he gets a drink of water between meals. Why don't you take him to a baby clinic or to a children's specialist for a monthly check-up? You should do this.

We have a list of modern books on the care and feeding of children which you may have by following column rules.

"Dear Doctor: My 9-year-old nephew developed blue spots all over his body two years ago. They come and go, but now they seem to be getting worse. He lives in a small town, and the doctor there doesn't know what it is or what to do for it."

The blue spots over his skin might be a sign of scurvy. Scurvy is a disease which is due to incorrect diet. (Hemorrhages under the skin are one of the symptoms, or it may be possible he is sensitized to some particular food.)

How about the child's diet? Is he getting plenty of vegetables that contain the vitamin C, the anti-scurvy vitamin? Foods high in vitamin C are: the citrus fruits, tomatoes (raw, canned or dried), cabbage, lettuce, and in smaller amounts in most other vegetables and fruits.

Can't your sister take the child to a baby specialist in a large city near her?

Mrs. M.—Your question on the Menopause is answered in our new pamphlet on the Hygiene of Women. See column rules for obtaining this.

Miss F. F.—You enclosed coin for the Tummy Ten exercises but you did not enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, nor did you give your address. Please read the column rules carefully.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: For the past three months I have been 'going with,' to use a much hackneyed phrase, a boy for whom I have come to care a great deal. He, too, loves me dearly and wants to marry me soon. I would like to go to a good commercial school and further my education, having graduated from high school recently. He does not want me to go, but wants me to stay at home and marry him shortly. We are both 20 years old, or are to be very soon. Do you think we are too young to know our own minds?"

"We are very congenial and find it hard to get along without one another for any length of time. Is that glamor of an infatuation or is it real love? I have never a great deal with other boys, while he has always preferred to go with other lads his own age until he met me, and now he wants no different company. He has been quite a one to drink but has given it up for my sake."

"Do you think he loves me well enough to be happy with me, not having known many girls? Is he selfish in wanting to keep me home? He cannot earn a great deal, never having much education, you see. It is so hard to know the right thing to do. Will our marriage be strictly legal even if his parents do not sign for him, but don't object afterwards?"

"IRISH." A great responsibility rests on you, doesn't it, dear, and I hardly know how to advise you. Your boy friend would have to have his parents' consent if he marries before he is 21. He is a bit selfish in wanting to be married when you so much want to get more education, but it is the excusable selfishness of a man in love. You write a very nice letter.

Time alone can tell if the boy friend and you will be happy married. I would try to have him wait another year, if I were in your shoes, because then you would both be of age, you would both be more sure that your love is real and not just an infatuation, and you could take the commercial course and be in a position to earn money if you ever needed to.

But if you can't wait, marry and work things out together. Your education needn't stop with marriage. You can study many things at home that will make you valuable.

Sorry I "turned down" J. C. I did not do it consciously. I try so hard to read the letters and answer the most important ones as soon as possible, and the others in order, and maybe he will see his answer yet.

"Dear Virginia Lee: Please tell me what is the proper procedure at a wedding, if you are going to have one bridesmaid, two matrons, honor and one flower girl? Which comes first and just how do they form?"

"What inexpensive flowers are appropriate for September? Who should buy them, the bride or groom? Also what is the earliest time of the day that the bride can wear a veil?"

"HAPPY." Sorry your letter was overlooked before. Happy. The bridesmaid comes first, then the matrons of honor and then the flower girl immediately preceding the bride.

The bridegroom buys the flowers. Asters of all kinds are at their loveliest in September, and there are such a variety of colors that you can match almost any scheme. Chrysanthemums are lovely, too, especially the garden variety. A veil may be worn at any time of the day or evening.

"Dear Virginia Lee: I am 16 and my parents allow me to have company, providing I fetch them home. I have an older sister. She is 19. She has a regular boy friend and I wonder why it is that my parents don't treat my boy friends the way they do my sister's? Whenever anything is done wrong around home they put the blame on me, whether it is my fault or not. Can you tell me why it is they don't treat me the same?"

"JUST LONELY." It's because you are young, dear. Sister is pretty well grown up, you see, and they think she is to be trusted in the matter of boy friends. She is old enough to choose her own, and your parents want to be sure your friends are trustworthy

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

COUNT THE COST—And a certain scribe came, and said unto him, Master I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest, and Jesus said unto him, The air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head.—Matthew 8:19, 20.

EITHER LINCOLNS OR NAPOLEONS

Those who want to get on in this world must choose between the method adopted by Abraham Lincoln and that taken by Napoleon Bonaparte, declares W. Roy Barnhill, publisher of "People's Home Journal" in the current issue of that magazine.

"The methods of getting on in the world adopted by different people," Mr. Barnhill writes, "may depend in the beginning somewhat upon circumstances or environment. But inspiration or ambition guides after the start is made."

"The ambitious successes may leave scars, the inspired successes are sure to make their mark. Be industrious to achieve your inspired ambition, but watch your step when it comes to purely selfish ambitions. Napoleon was selfishly ambitious. Lincoln was inspired by lofty purpose. An entire universe divides these opposites."

"Of the two, inspiration is the safer guide. It is a small voice within that leads to great service to many people. Scientists, musicians, artists, inventors, statesmen are inspired to deeds of service. They hear the small voice and heed it. The voice is not audible to one who places self-indulgence above sacrifice, self-interest above altruism, time-serving above high-minded devotion to duty. Or, if the voice be audible, it will receive but scant attention."

"Fix your eyes upon the goal of world empire," ambition counseled Napoleon. "Let your soldiers' campfires burn like beacon lights upon your victorious way. Shut your ears to the cries of women and children widowed and orphaned by your command. At the very sound of your name, small nations will tremble, proud kingdoms will look to their armaments. Conqueror, will blaze in letters of fire by night, in the smoke of sacked and burning villages by day. Napoleon—Conqueror."

"Napoleon's conquests have left no mark upon the page of history that can compare with the brilliant conquests of science over darkness, disease and death," concludes the publisher of "People's Home Journal." "The true scientist has heard and heeded the small voice within. He has glorified his Creator by discovering His purposes for man. Each conquering benefactor—whether scientist, artist, inventor or statesman—has served his generation with heart, soul and mind, and the nations arise up and call him blessed."

The Worcester Telegram thinks that man takes the prize in craziness because he wears heavy, binding and uncomfortable clothes in summer. But on the other hand he does not go half naked all winter.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK—The charm of burlesque theatre always has been its casual and unpretentious slant. There is nothing subtle about burlesque. It's as obvious as a comic strip—frank as a stenographer's lip rouge. Thus, the other day, at the Columbia Stock, the chorus girls were introduced one by one on the stage to the audience before the shindig started.

The Out-of-Town-Man-About-Town, it seems, persists in the old practice of sending gifts back stage to his favorite member of the ensemble. Not knowing her name, and depending solely upon description, much confusion ensues. And why court confusion when it can be dissipated by so simple expedient as an introduction?

After a while it will probably reach the point where the girls will wear numbers on their backs, like football players.

After attending a couple of the current Broadway reviews you realize that nothing is too cheap, too low or too preposterous for a tryout on The Lane.

IRV. COBB'S FOND WISH
The bunch at the Newspaper Club were swapping yarns the other night and Charley Mackey, the Brooklyn Eagle's great cartoonist, recalled the time Charley Chapin, city editor of the Evening World, once serving a life sentence in Sing Sing for the murder of his wife, was sent over for several days to "discipline" the staff of the Morning World. Charley was indignant and proud of the title the staff had bestowed upon him, of "Simon Legree."

Irving Cobb snarled into the M-five one morning and noting that Charley was absent made inquiry as to his whereabouts. He was told The Boss had gone home ill.

"Good Lord!" said Cobb. "I hope it's nothing trivial!"

WILL THERE BE A FUNERAL?
Charley Beyer, metropolitan reporter, ace pulled a somewhat similar line on the auditor of the World. Charles, at the time, was lending lustre to the World staff and in common with the rest of the bunch entertained a profound contempt for the penny-paring

THE WAY of the WORLD

SOME RESPONSIBILITY

A thoughtful correspondent writes in and says: "Here is something to think about. The United States with only six per cent of the world's population and seven per cent of the world's land produces 56 per cent of the world's paper; 20 per cent of its gold; 25 per cent of its wheat; 40 of iron and steel; 40 of lead and 40 of silver; 50 per cent of zinc and 52 of coal; 60 per cent of aluminum; 60 of copper and 60 of cotton; 66 per cent of all the oil; 75 per cent of the corn and 85 out of every 100 automobiles."

Well, that is not only something to think about but it is a heavy responsibility for the United States to carry. What are we, with all this wealth, doing for the world? What is our greatest possible contribution?

KEEPING UP AND AHEAD
The Boston Chamber of Commerce has created a bureau devoted exclusively to aviation. Other cities will do the same. It is the business of a chamber of commerce to see that its city keeps up—and keeps ahead.

PATIENCE
Patience often wins what the most impulsive and forceful attack can not win. Too often those who go at a job with unusual speed and vigor at the beginning soon fade into failure.

IN POLITICS
The wise and thoughtful man will go into politics or public life with his eyes open and after thoughtful deliberation. He will face the fact, if he knows what it is all about, that he is going to be shot at by all sorts of both just and unjust critics. He is going to be deserted by at least 75 per cent of those acquaintances whom he fondly thought were friends. He is going to be called dishonest, unjust, weak, a liar, and a demagogue. He is going to do something with good intentions to please somebody and find that he has upset somebody else.

Despite all this, no career is greater than a public career. Only every man who goes in ought to know that the price is high and make up his mind beforehand that he is willing to pay it.

HUMOR
Women, for the most part having little sense of humor, find much more in life to be anxious about, much more to make them unhappy than men do. Women, lacking a sense of humor, have other gifts which men do not have. They have intuition, frequently mistaken, but nevertheless better than no intuition at all.

HOW GOVERNMENT COMBATS FRUIT FLY DESCRIBED

By DR. C. L. MARLATT
Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology

(Charles Lester Marlatt was born at Aitchison, Kans., Sept. 26, 1862. He is a graduate of Kansas Agricultural college where he was later awarded the degree of doctor of science. For two years he was an assistant professor at Kansas Agricultural college. He became affiliated with the bureau of entomology, department of agriculture, in 1889 and was named its chief in 1927. He is a member of numerous scientific societies and organizations, and is the author of many papers and bulletins on economic entomology.)

The forces of the federal government and the state of Florida have been mobilized to combat the Mediterranean fruit fly, which has become prevalent in sections of Florida.

Between 5,000 and 6,000 men have been employed in the work of eradicating the disease, and the cleanup of cultivated host fruits and vegetables is now nearly 100 per cent over the known infested areas. The cleanup further involves not only planted orchards and vegetable fields, but also the penetration of wild lands and swamps to destroy the wild host fruits of all types.

The department of agriculture in its bureau of entomology has developed during the last 50 years a force of entomologists doing work independently or in cooperation with state institutions and agencies. The work of this bureau is distributed in some 10 divisions, each of which deserves a story of its own. These divisions are charged with the study of: Deciduous fruit insects; cereal and forage insects; truck crop insects; cotton insects; insects affecting tropical and subtropical and ornamental plants; insects affecting forest and shade trees; insects affecting stored products; insects affecting man and animals; bee culture investigations; and museum work, namely, technical or scientific study of insects from the standpoint of determination and classification.

This work is being conducted at some 103 different field stations located in 37 states. There are additional stations in Alaska, Hawaii, Canal Zone, and in some seven foreign countries. All but one of these foreign stations are concerned with the collection of parasitic and beneficial insects to be imported into the United States to aid in the insect war.

Perhaps the most important phase of applied entomology in recent years has been the effort of various countries of the world to prevent the entry from other regions of new pest hazards—insect

ANOTHER BIG STEP FORWARD

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

With a little study and ordinary intelligence, any woman can learn to analyze her own skin. There are four general types of skin—the dry, the oily, the normal and the combination skin.

The dry skin is usually thin and sensitive. When it is cared for correctly, it is the most beautiful of all skins—so fine pored and transparent. Neglected, it becomes scaly and chapped and cracks into lines and wrinkles. Thorough cleanliness is, of course, the first essential in the skin care, but the dry skin can not stand frequent washing. To wash the dry skin frequently with soap and water, is to wash away what little natural oil it has and make the skin drier than ever. If yours is a dry skin, select a skin-cleansing cream—one which will penetrate the depths of the pores and bring out all dust and impurities, leaving the skin free to breathe—and a cream which will, at the same time, lubricate the skin, keeping it soft and supple. Once or twice a week wash with warm water and a specially prepared washing preparation. To keep the skin clear and transparent. The dry skin, of course, needs nourishment—rich creams to feed the starved tissue and replenish those natural youthifying oils which exposure and nervous energy have robbed from it.

The oily skin should be washed at first once or even twice a day and subsequently three or four times per week with warm water and a washing preparation compounded especially for the oily skin, for the problem here is to cut the excess oil and regulate the oil glands so that they may function normally—supplying just enough oil to nourish and lubricate the skin. The oily skin is usually sluggish and frequently inclined to large pores and blackheads. It needs stimulation! Each cell and pore must be made to work—must be whipped into activity. It will need, too, a good astringent to close the pores and refine the texture. The combination skin is a temperamental skin—and at first its care seems complicated. But it really is a very simple matter. Each part should be considered separately and treated accordingly. Around the eyes, the cheeks and forehead where the skin is dry, treat it exactly as you would a dry skin—cleansing with cream and nourishing with rich skin-foods. Where oil abounds on the chin and nose, wash frequently, stimulate daily and use your astringent regularly.

The woman with a perfectly normal skin is indeed fortunate. And with correct daily care its beauty can be enhanced and preserved throughout the years. Alternate washing with cold cream cleansing. A good rule is to wash the face in the morning, using warm water and a special washing preparation. Cleanse with cream at night. Stimulate daily to keep the blood flowing briskly and each tiny cell working actively.

These, then, are the four general types of skin—the dry, the oily, the combination and the normal. Once you have determined which type your skin is, it is a simple matter to select the correct preparations.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—A representative seat in congress means just as much to him as a senator's means to a senator, but it means less to other folk—except in the case of a few exceptional representatives, like Speaker Longworth.

A member of the upper house draws no more pay than a member of the lower one, but he is a bigger man, nevertheless—generally.

Consequently, the air already is full of talk concerning the chances of the senators who must come up for re-election next year. All the representatives must, but nobody mentions their prospects.

Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire has general charge of his Republican fellow senators' campaigns. Of course each will fight for himself, too, but the G. O. P. is anxious to have a bigger senate majority in the next congress than it has in this one.

As chairman of the Republican senatorial committee Moses succeeds Senator Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island, who has a re-election conflict of his own on his hands and will be too busy to worry over the others. Rhode Island is a doubtful state and former Senator Peter G. Gerry, who lost out as a Democrat last year, will be doing his best to stage a come-back at Metcalf's expense.

Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland probably will be the Democrats' chairman. He was last time.

On the Republican side of the fence, Senators William E. Borah of Idaho, Arthur Capper of Kansas, James Couzens of Michigan, Henry W. Keays of New Hampshire, William H. McMaster of South Dakota, Charles L. McNary of Oregon and Francis E. Warren of Wyoming (if he lives, for he is 85 years old and has served 34 years continuously are considered practically certain of re-election. A Democrat does occasionally win in Michigan, but only once in a con's age.

Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois may not be re-nominated. Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick wants his toga.

Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey is out of the race, having been appointed ambassador to France. Representative Franklin W. Fort, one of President Hoover's "boy scouts," would like to succeed him, but will have to beat ex-Senator Edward I. Edwards who, defeated in 1928, is sure to try again in 1930.

Still in the Republican column, Senator Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts is expected to retire, being very old—though not so old as Senator Warren. Besides, Massachusetts may choose a Democrat. It has one now, in Senator David I. Walsh, and went for Al Smith last November.

Senator Guy D. Goff will have competition in West Virginia from ex-Senator M. M. Neely, who lost out as a Democrat in the 1928 landslide.

Senator Arthur P. Gould of Maine will be re-elected if nominated, but there are hints that he will retire—maybe to escape defeat at the primaries, for he recently made some slurring remarks concerning prohibition, a risky policy for a Pine Tree state politician.

Senator Daniel O. Hastings cannot be considered safe in Delaware, where ex-Senator Thomas F. Bayard is sure to be the Democrats' candidate, until the votes are counted.

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska wanted to retire six years ago, but says nothing about it now. If he runs, he will have the Anti-Saloon league against him, because, although a dry, he supported Al Smith. Nevertheless, it will be a miracle if he fails to carry Nebraska—and much good may it do the Republicans, for he seldom votes with them.

Colorado has been known to go Democratic, but not often enough to scare Senator Lawrence C. Phillips seriously. Oklahoma and Kentucky are not safely enough Republican to justify odds in favor of the re-election of Senators W. B. Pine and Frederic M. Sackett, respectively.

Senator Thomas D. Schall will have to hustle for renomination in Minnesota.

Among the Democrats everyone concedes the renomination and re-election of Senators Coleman L. Blease of South Carolina, William J. Harris of Georgia, Joseph E. Ransdell of Louisiana, Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Morris Sheppard of Texas and Lawrence D. Tyson of Tennessee.

New Mexico, Senator Sam G. Bratton's state, is variable.

Senator Carter Glass, as the whole country knows, has a fight on with Bishop James Cannon, Jr., in Virginia.

Senator Pat Harrison, J. Thomas Heflin and Furnifold M. Simmons in reality no doubt have a cinch apiece in their respective states of Mississippi, Alabama and North Carolina, but there are some whispers of Democratic disaffection against all three of them. One nominated of course, they are sure of re-election.

Considering how dry he is, the question always is raised how long Senator Thomas J. Walsh can continue to carry the wet state of Montana, but it generally is taken for granted that he will do it this time as usual.

Cantaloupe Cocktail with Mint.
Liver Casserole. Sliced Cucumbers.
Velvet Cream. Black Coffee.
This menu is unusual but it would please either family or guests unless they are not fond of liver. It serves seven.

Today's Recipes

Liver Casserole—One and three-quarter pounds liver, in one piece, four tablespoons brown drippings, one-quarter cup flour, one small onion, two carrots, two and one-half teaspoons salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, one small bay leaf, one-half cup salt pork. Melt drippings in hot frying pan. Dredge liver with flour, place in frying pan and sear to a golden brown on all sides; then put in casserole. Add thinly sliced onion and carrots, chopped celery, diced potatoes and seasoning. Pour tomatoes over all and sprinkle with finely chopped salt pork. Cover and bake in a moderate (350 degrees F.) oven for two and one-half hours. Serves seven.

CONSTIPATION IN BABIES

"My baby boy, seven months old, weighs 17 pounds and is healthy in every way but one—constipation. No matter what I give him to eat, he doesn't have a natural passage without the aid of a physic. Besides his nursing, he gets orange juice, farina or strained oatmeal, a teaspoon of cod liver oil, along with a nursing, in the morning. For lunch, some kind of vegetable—spinach, baked potato or mashed carrot, then five ounces of milk and one of water. Later, a few ounces of prune juice and some boiled water, and sometimes another bottle if I haven't enough milk myself. I give him milk of magnesia."
MRS. C.

Your baby won't have natural bowel movement until you stop giving him the milk of magnesia, Mrs. C. I would say to stop the physic entirely and give him a little enema for two or three days until he has a normal movement. Have him sit on his potty chair at a regular time, twice a day. Perhaps, instead of giving him an enema, you could use a small glycerine suppository.

Always, after stopping the use of physics, it takes three or four days for the bowels to begin to function normally.

Perhaps you can increase his diet somewhat—add a larger amount of the pureed vegetables and fruits. I would also get a package of Vitavase—a sugar that is made of the germs of wheat, for it is very high in the vitamin B, which has much to do with the integrity of the intestinal tract. You should give him one bottle feeding extra each day, and in his extra bottle use the vitavase for sugar.

See that he gets a drink of water ### between meals.

Why don't you take him to a baby clinic or to a children's specialist for a monthly check-up? You should do this.

We have a list of modern books on the care and feeding of children which you may have by following column rules.

"Dear Doctor: My 9-year-old nephew developed blue spots all over his body two years ago. They come and go, but now they seem to be getting worse. He lives in a small town, and the doctor there doesn't know what it is or what to do for it."

The blue spots over his skin might be a sign of scurvy. Mrs. L. Scurvy is a disease which is due to incorrect diet. Hemorrhages under the skin are one of the symptoms, or it may be possible he is sensitized to some particular food.

How about the child's diet? Is he getting plenty of vegetables that contain the vitamin C, the anti-scorbutic vitamin? Foods high in vitamin C are: the citrus fruits, tomatoes (raw, canned or dried), cabbage, lettuce, and in smaller amount, in most other vegetables and fruits.

Can't your sister take the child to a baby specialist in a large city near her?

Mrs. M.—Your question on the Menopause is answered in our new pamphlet on the Hygiene of Women. See column rules for obtaining this.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: For the past three months I have been 'going with' to use a much hackneyed phrase, a boy for whom I have come to care a great deal. He, too, loves me dearly and wants to marry me soon. I would like to go to a good commercial school and further my education, having graduated from high school recently. He does not want me to go, but wants me to stay at home and marry him shortly. We are both 20 years old, or are to be very soon. Do you think we are too young to know our own minds?"

"We are very congenial and find it hard to get along without one another for any length of time. Is that glimmer of an infatuation or is it real love? I have gone a great deal with other boys, while he has always preferred to go with other lads his own age until he met me, and now he wants no different company. He has been quite a one to drink but has given it up for my sake."

"Do you think he loves me well enough to be happy with me, he has known all kinds of girls, and is selfish in wanting to keep me home? He cannot earn a great deal, never having much education, you see. It is so hard to know the right thing to do. Will our marriage be strictly legal even if his parents do not sign for him, but don't object afterwards?"

"IRISH."
A great responsibility rests on you, doesn't it, dear, and I hardly know how to advise you. Your boy friend would have to have his parents' consent if he marries before he is 21. He is a bit selfish in wanting to be married when you so much want to get more education, but it is the excusable selfishness of a man in love. You write a very nice letter.

Time alone can tell if the boy friend and you will be happy married. I would try to have him wait another year, if I were in your shoes, because then you would both be of age, you would both be more sure that your love is real and not just an infatuation, and you could take the commercial course and be in a position to earn money if you ever needed to.

But if you can't wait, marry and work things out together. Your education needn't stop with marriage. You can study many things at home that will make you valuable.

uable in the commercial world, and I hope you will be supremely happy whatever you decide.

Sorry I "turned down" J. C. I did not do it consciously. I try so hard to read the letters and answer the most important ones as soon as possible, and the others in order, and maybe he will see his answer yet.

"Dear Virginia Lee: Please tell me what is the proper procedure at a wedding, if you are going to have one bridesmaid, two matrons of honor and one flower girl? Which comes first and just how do they form?"

"What inexpensive flowers are appropriate for September? Who should buy them, the bride or groom? Also what is the earliest time of the day that the bride can wear a veil?"

"HAPPY."
Sorry your letter was overlooked before, Happy. The bridesmaid comes first, then the matrons of honor and then the flower girl immediately preceding the bride.

The bridegroom buys the flowers. Asters of all kinds are at their loveliest in September, and there are such a variety of colors that you can match almost any scheme. Chrysanthemums are lovely, too, especially the garden variety. A veil may be worn at any time of the day or evening.

"Dear Virginia Lee: I am 16 and my parents allow me to have company, providing I fetch them home. I have an older sister. She is 19. She has a regular boy friend and I wonder why it is that my parents don't treat my boy friends the way they do my sister's? Whenever anything is done wrong around home they put the blame on me, whether it is my fault or not. Can you tell me why it is they don't treat me the same?"

"JUST LONELY."
Is because you are young, dear. Sister is pretty well grown up, you see, and they think she is to be trusted in the matter of boy friends. She is old enough to choose her own, and your parents want to be sure your friends are trustworthy.

Have you a reputation for mischief? Sometimes people who are fun loving get blamed for everything. As you grow older your parents will trust you more and blame you less. I am sure. Can you be patient?

Just beyond the village lies the most beautiful garden. So fair and full of flowers is it, we could scarce refrain from hastening to it."

"Blue Flowers—do they grow there? Asked the Queen. The spokesman nodded.

"Yes, Your Majesty, blue flowers, red flowers, purple flowers and heaps of others."

"That tells you what colored flowers Bees like best," said Daudler in an aside, "blue red next, purple third and all the other colors after."

"I think pink and yellow are prettier!" said Peter.

"Maybe to a Human, admitted Daudler, "but they don't hide as good honey as blue, red and purple ones, and that's what we consider."

"You bees certainly know your own business!" exclaimed Peter, and Daudler, delighted with the boy's praise, stuck out his chest.

Next: "Daudler Conducts Peter on a Tour."

Pinch-Hitting For Frame

The importance given the defeats handed big Eastern football teams by teams from the far West, has served to change the spirit in which Eastern coaches have looked at these games.

Now teams considering sectional contests are pointing for those games, instead of looking upon them merely as something outside the regular schedule—a sort of junketing expedition.

Coaches now must tell their alumni about their success in sectional games, rather than triumphs over teams closer to home. Sectional championships don't mean much in the light of the present sectional games, and with the West carrying on as it has in the past in these games, the East had best look to laurels.

Chick Meehan is probably glad his New York University team is not meeting the Oregon Aggies again this season, for he will be without the services of the mighty Ken Strong. But he must send his boys against Penn State, Butler, Georgetown, Georgia and Missouri on successive Saturdays. Al Latham, Archie Roberts, Bob Harabag and Ed Hill are also lost to Meehan's team this year.

Bill Alexander, head coach of Georgia Tech, outstanding eleven of last year from standpoint of achievement, will have the nucleus of another good team this fall, but it is doubtful if he can repeat the successes of last year.

In fact the game is growing so rapidly that few teams can hope to play a stiff schedule without sustaining a single defeat. Georgia Tech's "Golden Tornado" of last year was exceptional. Its victims included Notre Dame, California and Georgia.

Interest in this section will be stronger than ever in the state of Ohio State, which is inaugurating a new coaching system with only three regulars back to form the nucleus of a team. Wittenberg, which also draws quite a lot of attention locally, will also be under a new mentoring staff while Dayton, with Baujan still in charge, lost considerable talent through graduation in June. Knute Rockne's boys will still be a traveling team this year but next year there will be a brand new stadium to keep the Notre Dame teams at home. Rockne has the hardest job of any coach in the country. If he loses one game, the fans say he is having a bad season and to turn out victorious teams year in and year out, playing the strenuous schedules that the Irish do, is a task for a miracle man. Rockne is almost a football miracle man at that, but so many of his former pupils are now coaching his opponents, that the going is getting tough for him.

POSTOFFICE BEATS ROPEMAKERS TO TIE UP AMERICAN LOOP RACE

The Xenia Postoffice nine crashed through to a tie for first place in the American League softball standing at Cox Memorial Athletic Field Wednesday evening by defeating the erstwhile league-leading Hooven and Allison team 6 to 4 in a well-played game before a crowd of 500 people.

An early lead, piled up in the first two innings and a brilliant break a tie, brought victory to the mail men while Downey, pitching ably, started off an incipient rally on the part of the ropemakers in an attempt to knot up the game. The winners solved the offerings of D. Kersey for two hits and that many runs in the opening stanza, L. Cope singling and Towles chasing him home with a circuit clout. Three hits counting two more runs in the second inning when Cain singled and was forced by Wolary on a fielder's choice. W. Cope and Downey followed with safeties however, and two more runs were in.

The ropemakers began pecking away at this lead in the third counting one run on hits by H. Kersey and N. Murrell. They added two more in the fifth on two hits and a wild pitch and tied up the count in the seventh when Williams singled and scored on three outs, including a sacrifice. With the score tied at four and four, the mail carriers went into the eighth and won the game, errors contributing to the outcome. The result gave each a record of ten games won and six lost, promising a real fight for the American League title.

Another important combat takes place at the yard Thursday evening when the Downtown Country Club and the Harness Cigars, fighting for the title in the National League meet. The outcome will not change the standing but if Harness wins, it will be in striking distance of the championship.

RESERVES ATTEMPT TO AVENGE DEFEATS BY DAYTON EXPRESS

Only Two Defeats This Season Are By Dayton Nine

An attempt to avenge the only two defeats suffered this season, will be made by the Xenia Reserves at Washington Park Sunday afternoon when they engage the American Railway Express Co. team of Dayton for the third time.

Crossing off the games with this team, the Reserves would have a perfect season of victories, but, like Napoleon met his Waterloo, it seems that Jess Chambliss' athletes are unable to conquer the Express nine.

The last time these teams met, the game went eleven innings with the locals fighting to stave off defeat and avenge a loss suffered earlier, but the Daytonians came out on top of the heap. Maxton, pitching find of the Reserves this season, has been having little difficulty turning back opponents this season but has met his Nemesis consistently in the Express nine.

The visitors have won fourteen and lost three games this season, including the two victories over the Reserves. They defeated the fast Dayton Marcos four times, lost once to the Marcos and one game ended in a 2 to 2 tie in ten innings. The Express nine defeated Morrow 4 to 1 and 3 to 2 in a two game series, beat the Troy Sunshades 9 to 5 and defeated the Troy Pirates 10 to 2 to pile up an imposing season's record.

The Reserves have been going good lately, as witness their imposing victory over the Postoffice Indians last Sunday and Manager Chambliss feels that if there is ever a time to defeat the Express team, now is the chance. Because of the interest involved, the game is expected to draw a record crowd.

lowed with safeties however, and two more runs were in.

The ropemakers began pecking away at this lead in the third counting one run on hits by H. Kersey and N. Murrell. ## JAMESTOWN CHURCH HAS NEW MINISTER

The Rev. Perry Brantz of New Providence, Ia., will begin his pastorate of the Jamestown Friends' Church September 1, succeeding the Rev. L. J. Cook.

The Rev. Mr. Cook has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Second Friends' Church at Portland, Me., and is preparing to go to that city. He has been pastor of the Jamestown church for two years, and will close his work there next Sunday.

A farewell reception was given to the retiring pastor and his wife by the congregation at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas, Tuesday evening.

MIDDLETOWN GOLF TEAM BEATS XENIA

Xenia players were defeated by Middletown by the score of 37 to 13 in a golf match at the Wildwood Country Club, Middletown Wednesday. Thirty-eight men played in the match.

The Xenia men were guests of the Middletown golfers at dinner at the club house following the match.

Thirteen Races All Saw
American Colors
Lead the Way

SEVENTY-EIGHT years ago the schooner yacht "America" had sailed across the ocean and being off Britain at the time of the race for the Royal Yacht Squadron cup sailed off the Isle of Wight decided to compete. This was the original "America's Cup" race for the trophy won at that race has since been named for the first winner.

The "America" won by so wide a margin that when the Queen of England, watching the race from a spectator yacht, was asked what yacht was next, she replied, "There is no second." The cup won at this time still reposes in the New York Yacht Club.

The deed of gift provides stringent regulations regarding challenges which shall give ten months notice naming the days for the proposed races and the names of the owner of the challenging boat which must sail across the ocean to compete.

Thirteen challenges have been made of which Sir Thomas Lipton has made the last four with his series of "Shamrocks." In 1920 the challenge for which was given in 1914, but postponed by the World War. Charles Francis Adams, now Secretary of the Navy, sailed the famous old "Resolute," the American defender. Races had preceded this last one in 1870, 1871, 1876, 1881, 1885, 1886, 1887, 1893, 1895, 1899, 1901 and 1903.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON

Now it seems probable that Sir Thomas will try his luck again in 1930 with a new challenger named "Shamrock V." You certainly have to give the big tea man credit for trying mighty hard. Nothing would bring this ardent yachtsman more satisfaction than bringing the famous cup back to England, but ill luck has dogged his attempts.

It is in the degree of purification—as well as in the character of the oil used—that MonaMotor Oil excels all others.

In other words, it is the lack of impurities in oil that determines its quality, to a very large extent. And most motor oils are processed to a certain point, at which they are assumed to be "good enough," and then marketed.

GREENE COUNTIAN ARRESTED AS STATE OFFICERS RAID FARM

Henry A. Collins, said to be proprietor of a pleasant farm in Caesar Creek Twp., was arrested Wednesday after federal and state prohibition officers are alleged to have found a thirty-gallon still in full operation, 100 gallons of mash and three gallons of liquor in a raid on the place.

The raid was made after officers received a tip that a Belmont man had left for the farm to get liquor. They drove to the place and arrested Henry Bond, Culver Ave., Belmont, as he started to leave the farm. He saw the officers, and before they could reach him, he is alleged to have shattered a glass jar containing a gallon of liquor. The officers questioned him, and said that he told them he paid $5 for the liquor.

Afterwards the officers searched the farm and arrested Collins. The still and Bond's automobile were confiscated. Collins and Bond were taken to the Montgomery County jail, where charges were to be filed.

Paul Grosjean, federal agent; F. E. Gary and Isaac Howard, state officers; Ford Long, constable and Harry Butler, deputy sheriff of Montgomery County, made the raid.

The Collins farm has been searched for liquor a number of times by Greene County and state officers, unsuccessfully. Sheriff Ohmer Tate and Deputy Sheriff George F. Sugden searched the farm about a year ago. Under former Sheriff Morris Sharp the farm was also searched several times after tips were received that a still was buried on the premises. On one occasion state officers, former Deputy Sheriff John Baughn and Mrs. Winifred Mason, constable, found it necessary to draw their guns, when Collins was alleged to have attempted to strike Mrs. Mason with an axe while the officers were attempting to search the place.

left me a physical wreck. My nerves were shot to pieces, and my food refused to digest as it should. A heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach, gas and belching spells never gave me any rest. Medicine after medicine failed to help me, and I was discouraged.

"Finally I tried Konjola, and how glad I am that I did! I eat things that I didn't dare touch before. My nerves are steady and every ache and pain has been swept from my body. I feel better than for many years. Five bottles of Konjola did all of this! Konjola is a wonderful medicine. I am more than pleased to endorse it to all who suffer as I did!"

OHIO STATE FAIR AUG. 26-31

Bring Your Family to the Ohio State Fair

WITH an international reputation for the size and quality of its exhibits, the Ohio State Fair will, this year, be the world's greatest agricultural exposition. There will be education and entertainment for every member of your family—because the Ohio State Fair is primarily a family institution. And new this year will be the JUNIOR FAIR—arranged especially for the farm children.

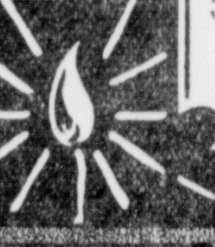

A few days at the fair will be an enjoyable time for you and your family—and a profitable time, because in finding out what is newest and best in labor-saving equipment and home comforts and conveniences, these few days will be worth more than weeks spent with books and catalogs.

You will see the world's finest livestock, fruit, grain crops and the latest farm machinery. In addition there will be horse and auto racing, concerts, vaudeville acts and a gigantic fireworks display.

Plan now to attend with your family and enjoy the world's biggest state fair.

One Thrill Enough

He wouldn't do it again for anything, thinks Albert Buschko, Zep stowaway, as he sits in Gloucester, N. J., immigration station awaiting deportation. Albert slipped aboard the Graf at Friedrichshafen through a ventilator as she left the hangar. He was found after a long search and locked up for the voyage. Dr. Eckener, Graf commander, censures his actions saying he endangered the lives of all aboard.

Grief Stricken Mother

Mrs. Kate Mikenas of Ansonia, Conn., mother of tiny three-year-old Albert Mikenas, who was the victim of a brutal fiend, mourns the little chap. His mutilated body was found at a lonely spot near Milford, Conn., two weeks after he disappeared from his mother's side. Only a mother can realize the heartbreaking sorrow of such a catastrophe.

FALL-WINTER FASHIONS ARE REVIEWED IN CHICAGO STYLE SHOW

In a recent fashion show held in Chicago, style trends for the fall and winter season were displayed. Reading from left to right, Miss Viola Allen, chosen as "Miss American Venus," in a European beauty contest, wears a three-piece transparent velvet ensemble with orange chiffon blouse. Miss Helen McBride, former "Miss Chicago," in a creation by Annabel La Reine of transparent velvet with imported lace collar; Billie Walton in trench travel or sports coat; Viola Allen displays a three-piece printed velvet ensemble. Extreme right, Rea Rayburn wears a new blue creole weave cloth with horseshoe shawl shaped collar and muff made of caracul.

CUPID'S DART AGAIN HITS FILMS

Monaco May Become Republic

Air view of the Principality of Monaco, which may become a republic if its inhabitants' plans for an alliance with France materialize. Inset shows the present Prince Louis of Monaco, who has been threatened with a revolt by his subjects if he does not return from France and remedy existing political conditions.

Make-Up for Titian

After the Titian-haired woman has selected her clothes, she should look to her make-up, thinks M. Lelong, dressmaker extraordinary. She should avoid too vivid rouge and lipstick, studying her natural complexion and the color of her hair. A lovely Lelong model is pictured, an evening gown in white chiffon, embellished in strass.

Suicide's Widow

Mrs. Elsie Hamilton (above) of New York, while vacationing in Europe, learned of the tragic death of her husband, Gail Hamilton, who committed suicide with a former secretary after an all night drinking party in a love nest near Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Gored by Bull

Sidney Franklyn, Brooklyn matador, is nursing a flesh wound in his leg, received during the charge of a bull in the Lisbon Corrida. The attending crowd had a decided thrill when the infuriated bull caught Franklyn on its horns and seemed about to gore him to death. Quick work on the part of the matador saved his life. He is shown here taunting a bull at a recent performance.

N. Y.-to-Nome Plane Wrecked in Canada

Here is the "Newalaska," in which Captain Ross Hoyt, above, was flying back to New York from Nome, Alaska, when he was forced to land at Valemount, British Columbia, 75 miles west of Jasper. Water in the fuel is blamed. The Curtis plane was wrecked, but the Captain is unhurt, and is shown here viewing the remains of the ship.

Regains His Gold

Salvatore Ateca has won a complete victory over Mexico in establishing his right of ownership to $770,000 in securities seized recently in New York. Who wouldn't look happy at such good news?

Gives Himself Up

Accused of complicity in the robbery of an Agua Caliente paycar, near San Diego, in which two guards were killed, Marcel Delon, called the "brains" of the outfit which perpetrated the crime, recently gave himself up to the sheriff of San Diego county. Two of his pals have been given life sentences for murder.

GHOST SHIP WILL BE FINISHED SOON AS NAVAL CRUISER

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 20.—For fifteen years a great, blackened ghost of a ship, the naked hull of what was to have been a battle cruiser, has lain undisturbed and almost unnoticed in a quiet arm of the Elbe River on the outer edge of Hamburg harbor. Now it is planned to awaken the craft from its long sleep and complete it so that it may take its proper place among men-of-war.

Shortly before the World War the Greek government placed a contract with the Vulcan shipyards here for the construction of a 20,000-ton cruiser to be called the "Salamis." Work was started at once and on January 1, 1915, the unfinished hull was launched. Thereafter the project was suspended, principally because the German shipyards had more pressing business on hand, but shortly after the end of the war the Vulcan management informed Athens that it was ready to resume construction.

Greece took the position that the war-time suspension had worked out to its disadvantage and so announced that it did not care to have the contract fulfilled. The matter was laid before the League of Nations. As a result of arbitration arranged by the League the claims of the Vulcan company, by that time merged with the Deschimag shipyards, were upheld. The award, however, did not require the Hamburg firm to continue with the work, but Deschimag announced its readiness to do so upon certain conditions.

These conditions were that the building cost should be advanced from the original contract figure of 40,000,000 marks to 65,000,000 marks, and that the Greek government should assume the interest charges, amounting to some 15,000,000 marks, which had accumulated on the investment which the German company had tied up in the hull. The conditions named led the Ministry of Marine in Athens to believe that the finishing work might be more efficiently accomplished in an English or an Italian shipyard. Albeit, Deschimag modified its conditions and thereupon Greece announced that it was prepared to go through with the contract.

A Greek naval commission has been in Hamburg for several weeks making a thorough inspection of the ship. Its preliminary decision, yet to be approved by the higher authorities in Athens, was that the hull can be used as the base for a wholly modern and wholly seaworthy war vessel.

There is only one question as yet undecided and that concerns the armaments the "Salamis" will carry. According to the original contract, the Bethlehem steel works of Pennsylvania were to have furnished the big guns. It has been indicated that negotiations looking toward the execution of their part of the contract will soon be undertaken with the Bethlehem officials.

FOR QUICK,
HARMLESS COMFORT
Children Cry for It
FOR CONSTIPATION, DIARRHEA, FEVERISHNESS

Are you giving

Do you not marvel when thinking of the inward physical workings of your child—bone, flesh, muscle and brain growing each day—building onward toward manhood or womanhood?

Of course it is the blood stream which carries the millions of tiny red-cells to all parts of the body. And it is the healthy, rich, red-blood-cells that does this building, warding off disease and making for strong and healthy bodies.

When a child's appetite wanes or he loses weight, the complexion becomes sallow or pimples and boils appear—then you instantly know that the inward mechanism is not working properly—that a good blood tonic is required.

In such cases S.S.S. is the proper tonic. It is made from fresh vegetable drugs—therefore will not harm the most delicate system. It improves the appetite and restores the red-blood-cells to normal; lost weight is regained; skin eruptions clear up and color returns to the cheeks.

Give your child the right chance to develop. You will not regret it in later years.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping children and their elders regain strength and vitality.

The seasoning and aging process, used in the manufacture of S.S.S., makes it pleasant to the taste.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

GHOST SHIP WILL BE FINISHED SOON AS NAVAL CRUISER

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 20.—For fifteen years a great, blackened ghost of a ship, the naked hulk of what was to have been a battle cruiser, has lain undisturbed and almost unnoticed in a quiet arm of the Elbe River on the outer edge of Hamburg harbor. Now it is planned to awaken the craft from its long sleep and complete it so that it may take its proper place among men-of-war.

Shortly before the World War the Greek government placed a contract with the Vulcan shipyards here for the construction of a 20,000-ton cruiser to be called the "Salamis." Work was started at once and on January 1, 1915, the unfinished hulk was launched. Thereafter the project was suspended, principally because the German shipyards had more pressing business on hand, but shortly after the end of the war the Vulcan management informed Athens that it was ready to resume construction.

Greece took the position that the war-time suspension had worked out to its disadvantage and so announced that it did not care to have the contract fulfilled. The matter was laid before the League of Nations. As a result of arbitration arranged by the League the claims of the Vulcan company, by that time merged with the Deschimag shipyards, were upheld. The award, however, did not require the Hamburg firm to continue with the work, but Deschimag announced its readiness to do so upon certain conditions.

These conditions were that the building cost should be advanced from the original contract figure of 40,000,000 marks to 65,000,000 marks, and that the Greek government should assume the interest charges, amounting to some 15,000,000 marks, which had accumulated on the investment while the German company had tied up in the hulk. The conditions named led the Ministry of Marine in Athens to believe that the finishing work might be more efficiently accomplished in an English or an Italian shipyard. Albeit, Deschimag modified its conditions and thereupon Greece announced that it was prepared to go through with the contract.

A Greek naval commission has been in Hamburg for several weeks making a thorough inspection of the ship. Its preliminary decision, yet to be approved by the higher authorities in Athens, was that the hulk can be used as the base for a wholly modern and wholly seaworthy war vessel.

There is only one question as yet undecided and that concerns the armaments the "Salamis" will carry. According to the original contract, the Bethlehem steel works of Pennsylvania were to have furnished the big guns. It has been indicated that negotiations looking toward the execution of their part of the contract will soon be undertaken with the Bethlehem officials.

Easiest Way To Put Up Pickles

The busy house wife makes every moment count; here is something new that saves time and money. Get a 30c package of Grandma Kuhn's Picklesweet, ready for use, at your drug or grocery store. It contains just the right amount of spices, salt, saccharine and alum. Add the contents to 1/2 gallon good cider vinegar and you are ready for 50 to 100 pickles or 1/2 gallon catsup. Pull directions for catsup, mustard and dill pickles on every package.

Makes the Best Pickles
You Ever Ate!

To insure your pickles keeping and being just right, be sure you get the original and genuine Grandma Kuhn's Picklesweet and good cider vinegar. Or by mail postpaid, H. DALE KUHN LAB. ORATORY, SHELBY, OHIO, adv.

Are you giving your child the right chance?

Do you not marvel when thinking of the inward physical workings of your child—bone, flesh, muscle and brain growing each day—building onward toward manhood or womanhood?

Of course it is the blood stream which carries the millions of tiny red-cells to all parts of the body. And it is the healthy, rich, red-blood-cells that does this building, warding off disease and making for strong and healthy bodies.

When a child's appetite wanes or he loses weight, the complexion becomes sallow or pimples and boils appear—then you instantly know that the inward mechanism is not working properly—that a good blood tonic is required.

In such cases S.S.S. is the proper tonic. It is made from fresh vegetable drugs—therefore will not harm the most delicate system. It improves the appetite and restores the red-blood-cells to normal; lost weight is regained; skin eruptions clear up and color returns to the cheeks.

Give your child the right chance to develop. You will not regret it in later years.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping children and their elders regain strength and vitality.

The seasoning and aging process, used in the manufacture of S.S.S., makes it pleasant to the taste.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

The Theater

Among the interesting recent arrivals in Hollywood, is Georges Carpentier, the erstwhile French fisticuffer, who turned from the ring to the camera when his pugilism days did a fade-out.

Gorgeous Georges is in movie-land to work a song and dance number in Warner's "Show of Shows." His arrival recalls a romance that bloomed five years ago between Carpentier and Mary Eaton, then a Ziegfeld Folies beauty.

When the talkies superseded the silent movies it meant more than just the passing of quiet films, for with the talkies coming, the army of scenario writers has disappeared.

Scenario readers at first believed that a great wave of becoming modesty had suddenly swept the nation when the submission of scenario manuscripts was amateurs and they have gone back to their ribbon counters and are cut nine-tenths. Then, from the appearance of the remaining tenth, they evolved a new theory. Writing dialogue is too tough for the saving stamps. Now there is only a trickle of scenarios to mail back to Main Street.

When George White issued a call for chorus girls for his new "Scandals," 2,000 girls responded. Forty got jobs. With only about 200 chorus positions open for the coming Broadway season, it is estimated there are 3,500 seeking the places. Unfortunately for the telephone company, this does not deter the applicants. The New York telephone officials say that every time a producer issues a call for girls, switch boards are deserted.

They met when Georges came here to battle Jack Dempsey and all over town.

When Richard "Skeets" Gallagher invited Sam Hardy to lunch with him in Hollywood, he was mortified to find Sam show up with a box luncheon. Hardy explained he was on the eighteen day diet and didn't want to miss a day. He set the table with his luncheon, demanded salt from the waiter and ordered a cup of coffee. Skeets was embarrassed but Sam ate with a relish and before they left Hardy called the head waiter over and bawled him out for giving them such wretched service.

New York's longest run play is not on Broadway but in Hoboken. It is "After Dark," now in its thirty-seventh week.

Fully five hundred people were present at the third annual meeting and picnic of the Knights of Pythias of Greene County, which was held at the Xenia Fair grounds all day Friday.

Mr. C. S. Frazer arrived home Friday morning from Toronto, Canada, where he spent a week the guest of his sister, Mrs. Cork.

Mr. W. D. Wright is a candidate for Quadrennial Land Appraiser as announced in this paper.

The work on the new Reformed Church at the corner of Detroit and Church Sts., is progressing rapidly.

NINETY-THREE BOYS AND GIRLS ENJOY CAMP AT ANTIOCH GLEN

Ninety-three Greene County boys and girls are enjoying the week at the Four-H club camp at Antioch Glen.

County Agent E. A. Drake is in charge of the camp, assisted by Paul Haines and Miss Donna Shiley, state workers, and by local leaders.

Mrs. Pearl Wittenmyer, county health nurse, is in charge of health and recreational activities, and, assisted by local doctors, is giving each child at the camp a complete physical examination. The boy and girl having the best health record will be awarded a trip to the Ohio State Fair.

The forenoon program at camp consists of classes. Nature work study is conducted by Paul Hanes; camp craft by Roger Rogers; music appreciation by Miss Donna Shiley; raffia and yarn work for girls, Miss Thelma Barth; rope work, Owen Turner; journalism, Gladys Glenn; swimming, Mary Linton and Leonard Bootes.

The journalism class at camp will issue a paper this week, covering camp news.

Each afternoon, there are games and tribal practices, preparatory to the vesper and council fires at night. The campers are divided into four tribes: Mohawks, Sioux, Wyandottes and Blackfeet.

Wednesday afternoon seventy-five automobiles carrying about 350 club members and their families from Union County, who were making a day's tour of Greene and neighboring counties, visited the camp and were guests there for two hours.

Camp meals which are one of the most important features of the week are in charge of Mrs. Louise Turner and Mrs. R. B. McKay.

County Agent Drake today extended a cordial invitation to the public to visit the camp for the vesper services at 7:30 and the council fire programs at 8.

Poems that Live

O SLEEP

TAKE me upon thy breast,
O river of rest,
Draw me down to thy side,
Slow-moving tide,
Carry out beyond reach
Of song or of speech
This body and soul forespent.
To thy still continent.
Where silence hath his home,
Where I would come,
Bear me now in thy deep
Bosom, Sleep,
O Sleep.

OLD TOWN

The meeting of the Ladies Aid of the Old Town M. E. Church was held at the home of the Devoe members near Enon last week. Each lady took a covered dish and sandwiches and at noon a bountiful dinner was served. The business meeting took place in the afternoon.

A market was decided upon by the members present, to be held Saturday, Aug. 24 at 9:30 in the room formerly occupied by the Geyer Book Shop, Allen building. Each member is urged to send something to the market. Dressed chickens, chicken noodles, pie, cakes, cottage cheese, etc.

There will be Sunday School held Sunday a. m. at 10 o'clock with preaching services at 11 o'clock by Rev. Edward Wones, pastor. As there is only one more Sunday in this conference year, each one is urged to pay their pledges, so the year can be ended with a good report.

Mrs. Mary Harner, who was run down by an auto a couple of weeks ago is resting as well as can be expected at the McClellan Hospital. Mrs. Ella Day who has been an invalid for five years tell in her room, at the home of her son R. O. Day and dislocated her hip, last week and is now confined to her bed.

Mr. Morgan Harner who has been ill for several months remains about the same.

Mr. David Truman of Springfield was a visitor here Tuesday.

Mrs. Miriam Brickle who is employed in Springfield was a visitor with her family here Tuesday.

A miscellaneous shower was held at the McCoy home Friday evening for Mr. Orford McCoy and wife, formerly Margaret Rumbaugh. Mrs. McCoy received quite a number of gifts.

EVERY DETAIL of its design makes for EASIEST CLEANING

SPOTLESS, gleaming white—the General Electric Refrigerator looks its part—guardian of the family food... and the family health. And, because of its special design, it is as sanitary and clean as it looks.

All the inside corners of the cabinet are rounded. You know how easy that makes cleaning. No spilled food can hide in corners or seep into crevices. A damp cloth leaves the whole lining of the cabinet absolutely spotless. And the chilling chamber is so designed that you can easily clean all around it. Housewives who pride themselves on being "fussy" have commented favorably on this fact. And they like having the cabinet up on legs, for that gives them plenty of broom-room underneath.

Because the entire mechanism of the General Electric is hermetically sealed in a steel casing, it is dust-proof and safe from the difficulties which dust can so easily cause.

You should examine this most modern of all refrigerators—study the new all-steel cabinet, the many improvements. As evidence of guaranteed reliability, there are more than 300,000 users and not one has spent a single dollar for repairs! And find out about the conveniently spaced payments on which any of the models can be bought.

Tune in on the General Electric Hour broadcast every Saturday evening 8 to 9 Eastern Standard Time over the N. B. C. network of 42 stations.
